By KENNETH CLARK
(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 21.—Lieut.-Col. Hanford Macnider, of Mason City, Iowa, is the United States Minister to Ottawa. President Hoover has chosen, and the Canadian Government has approved, a distinguished soldier and financier to fill the post vacated by Hon. William S. Phillips. Colonel Macnider is a Harvard man, former Assistant Secretary of War, and former commander of the American Legion. He is forty-one years of age. In announcing the selection, the White House said Colonel Macnider had long been interested in the development of inland waterways, and would carry on the American-Canadian negotiations for expansion of the St. Lawrence waterway. Colonel Macnider's services to his country in the Great War were recognized by three governments. The United States awarded him the Distinguished Cross with cluster, France made him a Commander of the Legion of Honor and awarded him the Croix de Guerre with five citations, and Italy named him as the Croix de Meritio di Guerra. He entered the Coolidge administration as Assistant Secretary of War in October, 1923, serving until May 1, 1928.

SUCCESSFUL CAREER
Colonel Macnider's career as a business man and financier has been eminently successful. He is president of the First National Investment Company of Mason City, vice-president of the First National Bank and treasurer of Northwestern States Portland Cement Company.

In politics he has served as national chairman of the Republican Service League and was delegate-at-large to the Republican National Convention of 1924.

R-100 PAYS HOMAGE TO SOVEREIGNS

British Dirigible on Twenty-Four-Hour Trial Cruise Preparatory to Flight to New World

WILL LEAVE FOR CANADA SUNDAY

(Canadian Press Cable)

LONDON, May 21.—The R-100 passed over London this evening and saluted the King and Queen. Their Majesties were about to enter Covent Garden Theatre when the dirigible loomed almost exactly overhead and dipped its great nose in an act of homage to the sovereigns.

The King stood erect and saluted as the R-100 tailed downward for a moment. The airship was accompanied by six planes. One looped the loop as thousands of pedestrians stopped to gaze. Motorists halted their cars, innumerable heads were thrust forth, the movement of traffic was suspended.

LONDONERS CHEER SHIP
The R-100 was sighted over North London at 8 o'clock tonight. She was flying very low. After passing over the city the giant ship turned her head and disappeared eastward. Her progress could have been marked by a blind man, for cheer after cheer arose from the different parts of the city as she passed over.

It was a welcome vastly different to that accorded air monsters of the same shape which flew over the city, on a different mission, in the days when Britain was at war.

GIVE ENGINES WORK-OUT

The dirigible left Cardington at 7 o'clock this evening on a twenty-four-hour cruise to give her engines a thorough work-out—one of the work-outs preparatory to her flight to Canada. She did not seek to attain speed, neither did she set altogether a direct course. She was sighted in London, fifty miles away, two hours after she started.

It is expected the ship will not return to Cardington until she has completed her twenty-four hours in the air. The date of the commencement of her great flight to the new world is still set tentatively at Sunday, unless unforeseen trouble or unfavorable weather develops.

Parties Move To Electoral Reform Action

LONDON, May 21.—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, had a heart-to-heart talk with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald tonight. He told him it is reliably reported, that the Liberals must receive satisfactory assurances that legislation for electoral reform would be introduced in this Parliament if the Liberals were to continue their support of the Government. A hint of the meeting Mr. Lloyd George came away with a pleasant smile and bearing all the chances of being satisfied with its conclusion.

Arkansas Flood Refugees Are Seeking Shelter

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 21.—Confronted by continued rises in the Kuachita and Red Rivers and smaller tributary streams, the Red Cross today reinforced volunteer relief corps for any eventuality, as the crest of flood waters slowly moved toward the inundated areas.

Refugees grew in number in the Caillon area, on the Ouachita River, twenty miles north of Eldorado, while further down the stream residents had fled to seek shelter of relief agencies.

In Miller County, in Southeast Arkansas, motorboats were taking whatever provisions were needed to marooned families, variously estimated at from 500 to 750 persons.

Acclaim Flying Duchess

HUGE and enthusiastic crowds completely surrounded the elderly Duchess of Bedford and her pilot, Captain Barnard, upon their arrival at Croydon airport, London, following their round-trip flight to South Africa. Her Grace, who is known as the "Flying Duchess," is one of England's most enthusiastic aviatrix.

Indian Solution Is Expected on Basis Of Dominion Status

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

LONDON, Eng., May 21.—I am informed that the British Government intends to announce its willingness to give India Dominion status. This announcement is likely to be made simultaneously with the publication of the report of the Sir John Simon Commission, which investigated conditions in India to ascertain the extent of its political development, and the political status these conditions warrant.

The Liberals and Laborites are reported to be in full agreement on the matter.

Mahatma Gandhi has been approached unofficially through the special correspondent of The London Daily Herald, who is at present in Bombay. The correspondent has been given special facilities for seeing the Mahatma in his place of confinement at Poona. It is understood that the Indian leader is willing to postpone discussion of his Nationalist claims, provided the British Government is willing to grant India Dominion status immediately.

PREPARE WELCOME AT PERNAUBUCO

RIO JANEIRO, May 21.—The position of the Graf Zeppelin, bound for Pernaubuco, at 1 a.m. G.M.T., Thursday, was given in a message received here at 8.30 N. Long. 26.30 W., or about 400 miles northeast of St. Paul's Rock.

An earlier message sent by Dr. Hugo Eckener to the National Telegraph Company said the Graf was making "little speed against strong winds, but all is well."

A great welcome is awaiting the Zeppelin at Pernaubuco, where a mooring mast has been erected. The ship later will go to Rio Janeiro for courtesy visit of several hours, and then turn northward to Havana and Lakehurst, N.J. It left Friedrichshafen Sunday.

Bertram Stevens, speaking in the New South Wales Legislative Assembly today.

The Assembly passed through committee stage the bill to reduce salaries of public servants by one-twelfth from July of this year until 1931.

ELECTION IS EXPECTED IN OLD COUNTRY

Problems Incidental to Memorandum of Sir Oswald Mosley Threaten Dissolution

WILL MR. THOMAS RESIGN OFFICE?

Resolution to Be Before Parliamentary Labor Party Disapproving Economic Policy

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, May 21.—The resignation of Sir Oswald Mosley, chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, has become a prime political sensation, and it threatens to shake the MacDonald Labor Cabinet to its very foundations.

There is persistent talk of consequences which would lead the Prime Minister to ask the King for a dissolution of Parliament, and this is widespread speculation regarding the attitude of the Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, whose resignation is regarded as being possible.

Today's meeting of the Parliamentary Labor Party over the question of the Mosley resignation was a stormy one. Its nature was reflected in all parts of the Labor side of the House of Commons.

SHORT AND SHARP

During question time the Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, Foreign Minister, was short and sharp in his manner of answering questions by Sir Austin Chamberlain, Mr. MacDonald, when asked whether the resignation of Sir Oswald was actually in effect, replied, "I understood it will be later."

When Sir Oswald himself entered the House towards the end of question time, he was very white, his color contrasting with the unusually flushed appearance of his wife, Lady Cynthia Mosley, the member for Stoke-on-Trent, who sat on the Labor benches below the gangway. The left-wing Laborites set up a defiant cheer. The Prime Minister, with the Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal and Minister of Employment, at his side, sat on a full bench of ministers surrounded by a crowded House. He wore an air of icy composure, and a few Conservative members cheered ironically, but the atmosphere on their side of the House was mainly chilly, in view of Mosley's successive

Reports That Police Probe New Phases of Meal Ticket Redemption Scandal Are Denied

CIVIC INQUIRY RESUMES TODAY

(Associated Press)

BOMBAY, India, May 21.—The Indian situation took a definite turn for the worse today as the Government viewed it, with the Nationalist campaign greatly increased in vigor and the resistance of the authorities stiffened proportionately.

The salt pans of Dharasana formed the chief battleground and battles really occurred today, in contrast to the more or less mild contest of passive resistance that has taken place in the same place for a week.

Violence developed and some 600 volunteers were reported injured. In the first raid of the Nationalists today they split into two groups and while the police were beating back one offensive with sticks the others closed in on the barbed wire surrounding the salt pans. The second group also was driven off.

SECOND ATTACK

The second attack was conducted similarly. The first dramatic action on the part of authorities came with the arrest of Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, who headed the Nationalist campaign, following the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi and Abbas Tyabji. Mrs. Naidu had been watching this morning's raid from a distance, since she had abstained from active participation following her arrest for a few moments last week, but when she approached the scene of the attack she was taken into custody. Nanihah Gandhi, a son of the Mahatma, and other prominent volunteers shared a same fate.

VOLUNTEERS' LEADER

Leadership of the volunteers depends on Mr. V. J. Patel, former Minister of Education, who is being investigated now phases of the meal ticket redemption scandal were denied by Detective Inspector John Thomson. This matter was the province of the select committee, he

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

REGINA, Sask., May 21.—Insurance against unemployment as a provincial measure is to be embodied in a bill to be brought down by the Government next session.

The Cabinet this morning discussed the subject. Following the meeting, Premier J. T. M. Anderson said much legislation was within the limits of the Provincial Government. Financial aid in the undertaking would be sought from the Dominion in the form of a grant, as in the case of education, the Premier said.

Lords Approve Economic Unity By Resolution

LONDON, May 21.—The House of Lords tonight adopted, by 103 votes to twenty-five, a motion in favor of imperial economic unity—a term which Viscount Elibank, who moved it, declared he preferred to translate as Empire free trade.

"This House," so the resolution ran, "views with grave concern the serious and increasing depression manifesting itself in the pressure of unemployment, the agricultural industries of this country, and the expanding figures of unemployment. This House is of the opinion that the most practical immediate remedies are to be found in a comprehensive policy of safeguarding and anti-dumping, and in imperial economic union."

Will Attempt to Break Refuelling Plane Record

TORONTO, May 21.—In an effort to break the refuelling endurance record of 420 hours and 17 minutes created last year at St. Louis, four aviators who arrived here recently from Tulsa, Okla., will take to the air at Leaside Airport on June 3. The record seekers are Messrs. A. Thomas, Clarence B. White, Howard Andrews and O. L. Frame.

The long flight will be made during the "Shiraz" convention to be held in this city.

RUN ON BANK OF INDIA IS MADE

BOMBAY, India, May 21.—The Indian situation took a definite turn for the worse today as the Government viewed it, with the Nationalist campaign greatly increased in vigor and the resistance of the authorities stiffened proportionately.

RETURNED AGAIN

Mr. Kennedy filled out that Parliament with the highest credit to himself, and was again the candidate at the general election in 1928, when he was returned.

At this election Mr. Kennedy was opposed by Mr. P. W. Van Kleeck, the Liberal candidate, and Mr. A. T. Kennedy.

Suggest Probe Of Naval Treaty By Committee

LONDON, May 21.—Former Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin today gave notice of a motion which calls for appointment of a select committee of eleven in the House of Commons to examine and report on the naval treaty.

He yielded in part, it is understood, to pressure of his back bench followers in the Conservative Party, who are dissatisfied with the treaty, particularly Part III.

The motion stands in the names of Mr. Baldwin, Sir Austen Chamberlain, Mr. Winston Churchill, and other prominent figures.

Japanese Business Men to Pay Visit to Canada

TOKIO, May 21.—Great interest has been aroused here by the announcement of a tour of Japanese businessmen and other by the Canadian authorities, of Canada, the United States and Hawaii, during the coming summer. Some eighteen cities will be visited by the party, and they will travel by Canadian transportation throughout, except in the United States, where they are scheduled to sail from Yokohama by the Empress of Canada on July 17 and to return to Yokohama by the Empress of Japan on September 18 by the new queen of the Pacific, the Empress of Japan.

This is believed to be the first time in the history of trans-Pacific travel for a tour by Japanese travelers to be organized under Canadian or any other foreign auspices.

Resigns Seat in Legislature

MR. W. F. KENNEDY

MR. KENNEDY HAS RETIRED FROM HOUSE

Conservative Whip in Legislature Tenders Resignation—Polling Set for June 12

MEMBER SLATED FOR LIQUOR BOARD

Mr. William F. Kennedy, member of the Legislature for the riding of North Okanagan, has resigned his seat. There will be no delay on the part of the Government in filling the vacancy. Nomination has been set for Monday, June 2, with the poll on Thursday, June 12.

The resignation of Mr. Kennedy was duly filed with the Speaker of the Legislature, Hon. J. W. Jones, of South Okanagan, and in turn the Provincial Secretary, Hon. S. L. Howe, was acquainted with the fact, and Government action followed without delay.

The necessary proclamation concerning the coming election with the issue of the writ will be made in due course.

POPULAR WHIP

Mr. Kennedy was a very popular member with his fellow representatives on both sides of the House. The leader of the Opposition, Dr. J. D. MacLean, in referring to Mr. Kennedy on one occasion, alluded to his jovial manner and happy countenance, which resembled the great apple, the McIntosh Red, which made his district so famous.

As senior whip of the Conservative party he was most efficient, commanding at all times the highest esteem of the members of his party, and the respect of his opponents.

He was first elected to the Legislature in June, 1927, when a vacancy occurred owing to the sudden death in December, 1926, of Mr. A. O. Cochrane, Conservative member of the House, who had been elected at the by-election following the general election of 1924, when Dr. K. C. Macdonald was defeated on going back for re-election after being called to the Government.

Mr. Kennedy filled out that Parliament with the highest credit to himself, and was again the candidate at the general election in 1928, when he was returned.

At this election Mr. Kennedy was opposed by Mr. P. W. Van Kleeck, the Liberal candidate, and Mr. A. T. Kennedy.

INDUSTRIES OF B.C. REQUIRE TARIFF SHIELD

Speaking before the members of the McBride Conservative Club (Incorporated) in the Conservative House, Campbell Building, last night, Hon. J. H. Macpherson, Minister of Education, and Mr. H. D. Twigg, M.P.P., referred to some of the issues that were before the electorate at the coming Dominion election. This information was given by request of the club.

The Minister of Education, in referring to the speech of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, in which he said that not a five-cent piece would be given by his Government to assisting unemployment in provinces where Conservatives were in power, declared that in such a statement the Prime Minister of Canada had shown a lack of anything like a broad Canadian vision.

It prompted the necessity for the redrafting of the British North America Act. The matter of unemployment had become a national one now. Canada had become a nation, and as such must face national questions in a broad way, which was lacking in its national character by the statement of Mr. King.

INDUSTRIES AND TARIFF

Another matter which was dealt with was the subject of encouraging industries. Provinces might so all, they could to encourage industries, but the Federal Government would not allow the action to be fruitful, in that no protection would be afforded the industries which it was attempted to build up.

The progress of British Columbia, said Mr. Macpherson, lay largely along the line of industry. It was on the main highway of trade. Yet the Dominion would not lend its assistance to its carrying out. In this connection he alluded to the building up of the iron and steel industry in the United States.

The Liberals were beginning to have their faces turned in the direction of protection, but they appeared to be ashamed of themselves and had brought in a sort of nondescript

Mr. Lloyd George Gives Views on Union Proposal

MANCHESTER, Eng., May 21.—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader and former Coalition Prime Minister, has expressed himself in typical fashion. Foreign Minister Bland's scheme for a union of European nations.

In a speech here he remarked: "If he pulls it off I say, 'All blessings on his intellectual brow,' but I venture to say that as long as the nations of Europe maintain and multiply tariffs against each other, the idea of a European federation must remain futile and negative."

SNOWDRIFTS BLOCK ROADS TO EDMONTON

Traffic Arteries at Albertan Capital Handicapped With Severe Storms

BLIZZARD ADDS TO DISCOMFORTS

(Canadian Press)

EDMONTON, Alta., May 21.—Roads leading to every Edmonton district were blocked with snowdrifts two and three feet high, farmers were rejoicing and city residents were none too well pleased, with broken auto radiators and impassable traffic arteries, as May 21 ushered in a snowfall that totaled four inches.

The snowfall left rural telephone lines broken, traffic was disorganized when deep drifts blocked highways and tender plants were damaged by a slight frost.

The storm extended from Peace River to Red Deer and from Jasper to Battleford. It was the heaviest May storm in a decade.

Adding to the general discomfort, the snow was driven by a howling northwesterly wind, which reached the velocity of forty-four miles an hour.

As reports filtered in through partially disrupted communication services, it became apparent that only the tender garden plants had been damaged by the frost, for the temperature dropped to 25 degrees above zero, and that farmers everywhere in the district affected were jubilant over the fall of much-needed moisture for the crops.

Clearing skies this afternoon and a steadily climbing barometer gave promise of more seasonable weather.

INCREASE IN SHEEP NOTED BY MINISTER

the sheep raising and not be stamped into abandoning one thing for another. He believed the mixed farmer had the best chance under all circumstances and would achieve a sure success in the long run. Fruits, grain, vegetables, the raising of cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry, and the supplying of the creameries with butter, all provided splendid avenues of revenue.

The minister was pleased to introduce Master Fraser McKenzie, who is probably the youngest owner of a band of sheep in Canada. He is nine years of age and lives on the Sooko Road, where he has eight sheep and eight lambs, all Suffolk, which he has raised through his own exertions, earning the money to start with.

Declaring the annual gathering

Mr. W. S. Benson, of Calgary, Western field representative of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Association, Weston, Ont., briefly outlined market conditions, and said the salvation of the wool industry depended upon the co-operation of every man owning sheep. The advantage of co-operating in the shipment of carload lots was obvious, as wool shipped in small lots was up against a rather heavy freight rate, which the article could not carry to advantage at the best of times, and certainly not with wool at its present price.

In addition to the members of the Department of Agriculture who attended, there were breeders from Saanich, Cobble Hill, Koksilah, Cowichan, Duncan, Comox and Denman Island, prominent among them being Captain Groves, Duncan; Mr. J. K. Harrop, representing the Plockmesters' Association locally, and one of the most noted breeders of Shropshire sheep in Canada; Mr. J. Daisel, of Denman Island, representing the British Columbia Sheep Breeders' Association; Mr. Bert Young, of Koksilah, raiser of fine sheep stock, and "Mac" Dean, of Sidney. No idle curiosity made this most successful meeting possible. All were equally interested in the wool and mutton industry. The lamb winning the challenge cup was immediately purchased by Lock Brothers, of Esquimalt. The prizes donated by the Plockmesters' Association, business men of the city, and the Department of Agriculture, the latter being in cash.

In acknowledging the vote of thanks tendered himself and Mrs. Atkinson, the minister complimented Mrs. McKiever, the secretary, on the excellent organizing ability which she had displayed in preparing and carrying out the details of the day, and in this connection mentioned the president, Mr. W. Sweetman. During the afternoon, tea and cake were served to all desiring refreshments, by the association.

KEEN COMPETITION

Great interest was displayed in the grade lamb competition, as well as in the hand and machine contests in sheepshearing. Mr. J. A. Turner, Uplands, judged the former, and Dr. A. Knight, of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, and Mr. Arthur Morton, Dominion Livestock Branch, Vancouver, judged the latter contests.

The prizes were awarded as follows: Manner of shearing, 15; finished condition of sheep, 20; absence of cuts on sheep, 20; absence of seconds cuts in wool, 25; time, 10; preparation of fleece for market, 10.

In the open machine shearing, Mr. James Rennie was first, with 82; Mr. E. Eccles second, with 82; and Mr. P. Thorne third, with 82. In the open hand shearing, Mr. William Robinson took first prize, with 90; Mr. C. Harrison second, with 89; and Mr. C. Eccles third, with 88. In the novice hand shearing, Mr. George Ball was first, with 90; and Mr. James Rogers second, with 88. In the novice machine shearing, Mr. F. Reid won first place, with 89; and Mr. D. Harrison second, with 87.

The winner of the lamb grade contest was the Miller Ranch, with a Suffolk grade; Miss E. Cudmore, with a Southdown grade, was second, and Mr. R. W. Robinson, with an Oxford grade, was third.

Pilgrim Ship Afire

LONDON, May 22.—Lloyd's received a message this morning from Port Sudan, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, saying the French steamer Asia was afire with 1,500 pilgrims aboard. "We fear some loss of life," the message said. It said the pilgrims, bound for Red Sea ports, embarked yesterday and that the fire began at 8 o'clock last night. Port Sudan relayed the message from Jeddah.

Where Earthquake Took Heavy Toll

Most people, from childhood, carelessly disregard and neglect their nerves. At forty, or thereabouts, they begin to pay the penalty. Their lives are filled with a painful pleasure seem to pall, they tire easily, can't concentrate, have fits of blues and tremblings, get nervous headaches or insomnia, and lose their grip and fullness of life.

ELECTION IS EXPECTED IN OLD COUNTRY

changes from Conservative to Independent and then to the Labor ranks.

When Sir Oswald arose to read a letter which he had sent to the Prime Minister assuring him of his continued support by vote in the House, but reserving freedom of action to advocate the policy which he felt the most effective in dealing with unemployment and depression, the House heard it in silence.

"As a back bench I will still support the Government," said Mosley, but the House allowed him to pass into the wilderness without any outward signs of regret.

When the meeting of the Parliamentary Labor Party is resumed tomorrow the chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, as he still is until formally replaced, will move a resolution disapproving the Government's unemployment policy. The Labor members expect Mr. MacDonald will demand a vote of confidence and will tell the party that unless the vote is forthcoming Sir Oswald's resolution withdrawn, he will immediately advise the King to dissolve Parliament, in other words, go to the country.

Meanwhile there is much speculation regarding the attitude of Mr. Thomas, whose resignation would not come as a surprise. Whatever the upshot of tomorrow's meeting, no successor to Sir Oswald Mosley will be appointed for a time.

Mr. MacDonald is only awaiting publication of the Simon report on India before carrying out a necessary re-arrangement of his Government to make room for Mr. Hon. Vernon Hartshorn, who was Postmaster-General in the 1924 Labor Cabinet, and Mr. C. R. Attlee. Both were Labor representatives on the Simon commission.

The latest unemployment figures continue to register an increase. Wholly unemployed and those temporarily out of work now number 634,000 more than a year ago.

Conservative members are demanding their party fight for dissolution of Parliament, and matters are coming to a head within the Labor party. Left-wingers are generally interpreting the resolutions of the Independent Labor party as being virtually in favor of open revolt.

LONDON, May 21.—The King today received Mr. John Masfield, the new Post Laureate, at Buckingham Palace.

A large crowd gathered outside the railings and gateway to see the man who, once a "hobo" and

Mr. Masfield, though naturally retiring, possesses a sense of kindly humor, and when he found a band of press and moving picture photographers confronting him at the gates, good-naturedly posed for them.

INTERESTING FIGHT LIKELY IN SCOTLAND

Five Candidates May Run for Seat Made Vacant by Death of Hon. John Wheatley

NO HINT YET OF LIBERAL ENTRANT

(Canadian Press Cable)

GLASGOW, May 20.—Scotland will see what promises to be its most interesting election fight in years in the Shetland Division of Glasgow, rendered vacant by the recent death of the Rt. Hon. John Wheatley, Labor member. There will probably be five candidates; the Conservative and the regular Labor nominee, two Communists and a Scottish Nationalist. So far, there has been no hint of a Liberal entrant.

The Conservative candidate has been nominated. He is Mr. W. P. Templeton, a wood-turner by trade, and a staunch adherent of the Conservative safeguarding and Empire free trade policy. Mr. Templeton was the member for Banffshire from 1924 to 1929, and has a strong appeal as a workingman's candidate. Labor has not chosen its man yet, suffering from an embarrassing number of aspirants to the Wheatley mantle. The Nationalists have adopted Mr. John M. McArthur. An Independent Communist, Mr. Guy Aldred, is already in the field, but most picturesquely of all the candidates will be the regular Communist candidate, Mr. Shapurji Saklatvala, who represented the North Battersea Division as a Communist in 1922-23 and from 1924 to 1929.

Mr. Saklatvala is a man of great courage with many revolutionary associations and has been a foul of the authorities many times.

president of the Legislative Assembly, who was at Untai Camp near Dharasana, tonight, after a day full of incidents.

His intention this morning was to leave the Bombay train at Durgam, which is the nearest station to Dharasana, but the train did not stop. When it roared on through Patel pulled the alarm cord, but no notice was taken of the signal. He finally alighted at Bulsar, and from there motored to Untai, visiting the camp hospital, where 300 injured volunteers were under treatment. He continued by motor to meet Mr. Naidu.

THIRTY-SIX ARRESTED

SIMLA, India, May 21.—Thirty-six prominent Nationalists leaders today were arrested at Whelum, according to a telephone message received here this evening. The arrests were made in the connection with a procession which was going to the railway station to meet Pandit Malaviya, journeying to Murree in the Peshawar district. Malaviya's mission to relieve those who had suffered in the rioting some weeks ago in Peshawar. The authorities stopped the procession and ordered the Congress members to disperse. They refused and the arrests followed.

RUN ON BANK

BOMBAY, India, May 21.—Excited crowds executed a run on the Bank of India, an Indian-owned concern today of many hundreds of depositors swarmed about the bank demanding their funds. The excitement was caused by a report that the manager of the bank, Mr. A. G. Gray, took part as an auxiliary officer in an action against Congress members at Wadala and Congress House.

Mr. Gray's emphatic denials failed to check the run.

The run on the bank continued until this afternoon when business closed for the day. The Board of Directors will meet tomorrow to consider the allegations made against the manager of the bank.

said, and unless instructed, the police did not intervene. Accounts and books of the married men's relief section of the relief office were reported by auditors to be in good order as far as the audit had progressed. This department came under the supervision of Messrs. J. H. McCashin and George Pyke.

Mayor W. H. Malkin today instructed Helliwell, MacLachlan & Company, special auditors, to proceed at once with a complete audit of all civic departments. His Worship impressed the auditors with the need to carry out the audit with all possible dispatch and thoroughness.

TO PRECLUDE REPETITION

"In a very short time every civic department will be in shape to compare with the best managed private business," Mayor Malkin said. "A system of accounting will be carried out throughout all branches of civic activity, which will preclude any possibility of repetition of the present deplorable condition."

George D. Ireland, dismissed city relief officer, and G. B. Wrinkle and P. F. Kennedy, restaurant proprietors, arrested in connection with relief department irregularities, were remanded for one week when they appeared in police court this morning.

TORONTO, May 21.—The Toronto Anglican Synod, by a vote of 111-85, has gone on record as favoring the establishment of civil marriages in Ontario. The synod adopted a resolution to this effect after a spirited debate, and after rejecting a plea by Bishop Sweeney that the question be left to the executive.

SCHUBERT CLUB RENOWN GROWS

FINE MUSICAL TREAT PROVIDED BY MEMBERS IN FIFTEENTH CONCERT

Highwayman, First Time Heard in Western Canada, Is Feature of Programme

That the Schubert Club now holds a very high place in the musical world was recognized last evening by a large and enthusiastic audience at the Shrine Auditorium when the fifteenth concert was given under the skillful and judicious guidance of Mr. Frederic King. The opening number of the programme was "Hark! Hark! the Lark" (Schubert), sung in very finished style by the choir, who showed meticulous attention to phrasing, nuance, intonation and the movement of the baton. Sopranos, mezzo-sopranos and contraltos blended in perfect harmony, and there was a pleasing balance and sublimation of one part to another when occasion demanded. Throughout the entire programme the choir showed a fine esprit de corps and co-operation in their work, and Mrs. Paul Green and Miss Eileen Dumbleton were sympathetic and able accompanists.

The second number, "Hush Song," words by C. Rossetti and music by Sydney Northcott, was a contrast to the former, and, and displayed the rare tonal qualities of the choir, bringing out a rhythmic legato that was particularly noteworthy.

BOLQUETS PRESENTED

Mrs. Gladys Stark, contralto, sang the solo in the number, "To Music" (Schubert), the choir making a rich background of song. As an encore "Spring" (Gustave Holst), one of the best pieces in the recent music festival, a light and animated selection, was given, the soloist and accompanist, Mrs. Green, receiving beautiful bouquets. Miss Dumbleton was also presented with a bouquet.

Mr. J. Watkin Mossman, of Vancouver, who possesses an obviously well trained voice of distinct pleasing quality contributed a solo group which included Lehman's "Myself When Young" (Persian Garden), Handel's "Droop Not, Young Lover" and Schumann's "Tears and Sigh," giving as an encore "Hear Me, Ye Winds and Waves" (Handel), which suited his rich bass-baritone to perfection. His second group included "Sea Moods" (Cofford), the old English song "The Willow" (Wilson), and "Old Clothes and Pine Clothes" (shaw), and as an encore he gave "Molly Brannigan" (Villiers Stanford), a "Light Irish number. Two Scottish numbers, "O'er the Moor" and "The Dell's Awa" (Burns), were included in the final group, and, responding to enthusiastic applause, he gave "The Wee Cooper of Fife."

Miss Adele Bucklin, violinist, who needs no introduction to Victoria audiences, added fresh laurels to her brow last evening with her two numbers, "Andantino" (Martini-Kreiser) and "Sicilienne and Rigaudon" (Francoeur-Kreiser), the latter showing exceptional skill in bowing and depth of tone. As an encore she played "Cradle Song" (Hauser).

"THE HIGHWAYMAN"

Outstanding feature of the programme was the rendering of the beautiful cantata, "The Highwayman," the words of which were written by Allan Heyes and the music composed and arranged by Deema Taylor, the New York composer and conductor, for a baritone solo and three-part ladies' chorus. This cantata was heard last night for the first time in Western Canada, and made a great appeal to the audience. Mr. Watkin Mossman, as soloist, was given accolades for his dramatic ability, and the chorus displayed intelligent understanding and appreciation of the work in hand and a feeling for the sense of the music and words. The first part was particularly dramatic and a most able stringed orchestra which played the accompaniment, comprised Mr. A. Prescott, Miss Adele Bucklin, Mrs. F. G. Aldous and Miss Neva Stewart, first violins; Capt. M. Darlin and Mr. D. McPherson, second violins; Miss Wilkinson, viola; Mr. Gordon Shaw and Mr. H. H. Hinton, violoncellos, and Mr. Hodder, bass. The Schubert Club was congratulated upon winning second place in the Music Festival ladies' choir class.

Veterans' Insurance Is Not Subject to Succession Duties

VANCOUVER, May 21.—Returned soldiers' insurance is not subject to succession duty, according to a Supreme Court decision of Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald.

The point was raised in the estate of Mr. Ian Dundas Todd, British Columbia Electric Railway Company engineer, who was killed at Rusk on December 16. Mr. Todd left a net estate of $12,700, which included $4,476 of a $5,000 insurance policy, issued by the Dominion of Canada under the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act.

The Department of Finance, Victoria, taxed the insurance $233 for succession duty. Appearing for the Department of Finance, Mr. Eric Pepler, departmental solicitor, argued that the only insurance which escapes succession duty is that left to a predeceased beneficiary, such as wife, child or parents. The insurance in question was left to the deceased man's brother.

His Lordship said that the Dominion Government provided the insurance free of cost for returned soldiers, and he did not think those policies should be taxed for the benefit of the province.

"It may not be good law; but it satisfied my conscience," remarked Mr. Justice McDonald.

MINISTER TO CANADA APPOINTED

The minister married Miss Margaret McAuley, of Mason City, in 1925, and has two sons, Tom and Jack.

NATIONAL PROMINENCE

Colonel MacNider achieved national prominence largely through his military record.

From the grade of first lieutenant in the Iowa National Guard, in which he was commissioned in 1916, he achieved the high post of Assistant Secretary of War and national commander of the American Legion.

ASSIGNED TO ACTIVE DUTY

He trained in the first officers' training camp at Fort Snelling, Minn., and received his appointment as second lieutenant of infantry, Officers' Reserve Corps, on June 20, 1926, for Mexican border duty. In the Federal service he served at Brownsville, Texas, until March 4, 1927.

LAUDS COL. MACNIDER

MONTECAL, May 21.—Col. Hanford MacNider will make a very distinguished representative of the United States in Canada, in the opinion of Hon. Vincent Massey, newly appointed Canadian High Commissioner in Great Britain and for the past several years Canadian Minister at Washington.

Hon. Mr. Massey is in Montreal to attend sessions of the Royal Society of Canada. "I had the pleasure of knowing Mr. MacNider at Washington when he was a member of President Coolidge's administration," Hon. Massey said, "and I know that his qualities are such as to make him very welcome in Canada indeed. He had a wide experience during his career, has a distinguished record as an officer in the American Expeditionary Forces during the Great War, and has held many high public offices in Washington during recent years."

policy which provided contravailing duties. This meant that they would follow in the wake of the United States duties imposed, the latter setting the pace.

TARIFF ISSUE

The minister said that he believed that this question of protection would be the real one before the people at the coming election. On this subject he said that some were inclined to ask whether protection would not increase the cost of an article to the people of Canada. That might be so, or it might not, said Mr. Hinchliffe. On the other hand, it sometimes paid to pay more for an article if there were other advantages coming from it.

In this line he instanced the case of a merchant in Victoria complaining that the people of British Columbia did not buy from him. When asked if he bought the Danish-produced fruit, this merchant replied he did not. This, said the speaker, was a point at issue. If the merchant bought the locally produced fruit, there would be more money circulating among the people of the district and all would gain.

Dealing with the matter of the old age pension, the minister said that it appeared to him that this was something that was national in its application. A man would be paid a pension because he had done something to build up Canada, even if he lived at different times in different provinces. The province was not to be charged with the cost, but rather the Dominion.

There were lines in which there might be better adjustments made between the provinces and the Dominion, looking to the granting of relief. As an instance, it was complained that liquor was too costly. If the Dominion were to lessen its collections from the liquor it might be possible to reduce the prices in the provinces.

He also was of the opinion that the collection of income taxes might be left to the provinces alone, instead of the Dominion also collecting such a tax. It was the only form of taxation left to the provinces, while the Dominion had many others.

MR. H. D. TWIGG

Mr. Twigg sufficed with a short address following the longer one by the Minister of Education.

He alluded to the fact that the Liberals had taken exception to what they described as the Conservative policy with regard to protection of "brisk for brisk."

Mr. Twigg felt that British Columbia would have to fight for itself in future as never before. He alluded to the railway lines in the other provinces running north and south, and built also to carry the trade of the country to Eastern Canada. He pointed out that it was well nigh impossible for the trade of British Columbia to meet with the East in a competitive way. It was necessary for her to look to the West.

EAST LOOKS AFTER SELF

The Dominion was not doing anything to assist the province in its trade with Australia in the matter of timber, nor with the Orient. There was nothing being done to give the province direct connection with the West Indies, as was done for Eastern Canada.

There was great disposition to follow the letter of the B.N.A. Act, rather than the spirit of it, Mr. Twigg said.

Mr. Hugh Allan, president of the club, presided, and thanked the speakers for their addresses.

DISARMING GREAT BRITAIN

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's Government, by its actions during the course of the London Naval Conference, has temporarily put an end to new British naval construction. The situation that remains with the signing of the Three-Power Treaty is a disquieting one from the standpoint of British naval needs. Great Britain has fifty-eight cruisers built or building. Thirty-six of these vessels become obsolete through age by 1933, which means Great Britain would be left with twenty-two cruisers. A couple of years ago the minimum cruiser requirements for Empire defence were considered to be seventy vessels. This number was reduced to fifty by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald as a gesture of good will when the London Naval Conference was in session. To meet the requirements provided for in the Three-Power Treaty Great Britain should lay down twenty-eight cruisers by the end of 1933 if she is to have fifty efficient warships of this type in 1938. There is no indication that the Labor Government has any intention of doing this.

Great Britain now has 166 flotilla leaders and destroyers built, and building. By the end of 1936 no fewer than 146 of these become obsolete through age, which would leave Great Britain with twenty of this class of vessel. The Naval Treaty allows Great Britain 106 of the destroyer type. They take two years to build so that by 1934 Great Britain should have laid down eighty-eight destroyers and flotilla leaders. The Royal Navy now has sixty-three submarines built, or building. By the end of 1936 thirty-eight of these will become obsolete, so that the strength in this class will be twenty-five. To fulfil the terms of the treaty Great Britain would have to lay down five more submarines by the end of 1934 because they take two years to construct.

It is small wonder, then, that there is a growing sentiment in Great Britain in opposition to the Labor Government's attitude towards the Royal Navy. Mr. Ramsay MacDonald has never given the faintest hint of what policy he intends to pursue to implement the Three-Power Treaty. He has ceased construction on new cruisers which are essential for replacement purposes. He is allowing the British Navy to become a mere skeleton of its former self in his desire to placate the jealousies of other Powers. It is absolutely certain that both the United States and Japan will see to it that the full strengths they are allowed under the London Treaty will be maintained by up-to-date vessels. The present course of events indicates that Great Britain's Labor Government does not intend that Great Britain should have naval parity with the United States.

THE MALAHAT DRIVE

Impatience with conditions on the Malahat Drive is only evinced by those who know little or nothing of road construction. The Department of Public Works has set itself to the task of making this roadway as safe as any in the province. During the process it is doing its utmost to keep traffic moving all the time. This is a difficult task. Bad corners are being eradicated, and so that this can be done there is considerable blasting, a plant has to be established at the location of the work, holes have to be drilled, the rock blasted and then the debris removed for use as filling material on curves above ravines. This is all a part of the widening and the straightening out of the road at corners.

Already a great deal has been accomplished. The approach to and beyond the water trough at the far end of the Malahat has been widened. Heavy work has been done at Look-Out Point, where improvements effected provide ample parking space for those anxious to admire the scenery. There is a lot of work, and of a heavy character, in progress down to the Bamerton Crossroad which, when completed, will greatly enhance safety conditions on the Drive. Were the Malahat closed while all these improvements are being effected they could be finished in a comparatively short time. Traffic demands, however, are so insistent at this time of the year that the Department of Public Works is doing its utmost to accommodate the public. Since the present improvements began the roadway has only been closed twice, once for twelve hours and the other time for two hours, when heavy blasting was in operation.

Mr. N. S. Loughheed, the responsible minister, Mr. Patrick Philip, his deputy, and the engineering and construction staffs are to be congratulated on the manner in which the work is proceeding and because of the minimum of inconvenience that has been caused to the traveling public. The improvements are being carried out in thorough fashion and they are of a character which can be maintained. In the aggregate they will add greatly to the value of the Drive and encourage an increase in traffic. The aim in view is to have the present programme completed by the time the heavy summer traffic commences. When it is done it will be a source of pleasure and satisfaction to all users of the road whether they be our own people or visitors in our midst.

MR. T. D. PATTULLO'S PROBLEM

The vacancy in the Senate created by the death of Mr. Hewitt Bostock is to be filled by Dr. J. H. King, the present Minister of Health and Pensions. That is regarded as a foregone conclusion for it is Dr. King's desire to leave the Federal Cabinet. Dr. King is at present the Member for East Kootenay, a seat which he has held ever since he entered the House of Commons and he has held it by his personal popularity. His absence as a candidate will give the Conservatives an excellent opportunity of making a gain in British Columbia where they now hold two seats out of the fourteen.

It seems certain, Dr. King resigns his Cabinet position and is chosen for the Senate British Columbia will have no Cabinet Minister at Ottawa. The deficiency, however, will be made good, and probably before the Federal election is held in the coming Summer. Report has it that Mr. T. D. Pattullo, the leader of the Provincial Liberals, will be chosen as a Cabinet Minister and that he will assume the new portfolio of Fisheries which is being provided for at the present session of Parliament. The next step for Mr. Pattullo would be to choose a constituency to contest in this province. He would probably have the choice of East Kootenay, Vancouver Centre or Prince Rupert, with a preference for one or other of the latter two.

Mr. Pattullo's absence from provincial politics would be missed. He is popular, and since being chosen as leader of the provincial Liberals, he has acquired a good deal of political ballast. He is well informed on provincial conditions, although up to date he has not paid any particular attention to fisheries, the portfolio which he is likely to have to administer. He has been in the forefront of the political life of this province for the last fourteen years and his translation to Ottawa would be in the natural sequence of events. His problem, however, would be to choose a constituency in which he could be elected. Judging from Liberal experience in British Columbia in late years that will be a difficult task, especially since this province is no longer susceptible to being bribed into changing its political faith by the promise of Cabinet representation.

RADIUM ORES

Radium costs $10,000 for a gramme. The excessive price is due to the so-called monopoly of radium-bearing ore in the Congo, which is a Belgian possession. Now an old prospector for gold who has worked extensively in Australia claims radium ore around there but there is no disposition to produce from them. The country to the east and north of Flinders Range in South Australia carries reefs of radio-active ores. Northerly from this district towards the Queensland boundary there are miles of reefs of similar character. The Glanville hill in West Australia also carry radio-active ores. There are as well ridges in New Guinea with unmistakable signs of radio activity. This is of particular interest since the Commonwealth recently purchased $500,000 worth of radium. The shortage of the substance and its great price has led to the appointment of a British Commission to search the Empire for radium.

London's toll of death from street tragedies reached 1,392 in 1929. For the first three months of the present year there were over 300 deaths and the problem of increasing casualties is worrying the traffic authorities. In the United States 600 citizens are killed by motor cars weekly, and it is estimated that in New York alone a person is run over every fifteen minutes. All the traffic regulations that are devised do not seem to reduce the incidence of death from misadventure. On the contrary, the traffic death rate is increasing all the time. It is a blot on legislative ability that greater safety for life and limb cannot be insured.

One solution for the wheat situation in this country is a move towards lowering the high cost of producing wheat. If this were done the Dominion's product would be on a better footing to meet competition. The concept that the world must have Canada's wheat is exploded. It can do without it unless it is sold at the current market price. Our Wheat Pool, and others interested, should wake up and realize that both Europe and South American countries are increasing their production, improving the standard of their wheat and producing at a lower cost all the time.

Not a move has been made during the present session of the Federal Parliament to forward a policy which will prevent a recurrence of conditions that have left such a large surplus stock of wheat in Canada during the last two years. A government is bankrupt in vision when it does nothing to right an economic situation that has adversely effected almost every aspect of material prosperity in the country.

THE HEART'S PARADISE

At the end of all wrong roads I came
To the gates of the garden of a name.
There, till the spell should fall, I found
Sudden Elysium, strange with sound
Of unknown birds and waters wild
With voices unresolved for rest.
There every flower was fancy's child,
And every tree was glory's guest;
And Love, by darkness undefined,
Went like the sun from east to west.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Where is the learning? Hath the toll
Over books consumed the midnight oil?
Delightful task to read the tender
Thoughts,
To teach the young idea how to shoot!

We have received two letters indicative of the complexity of educational problems. After reading the letters we hardly knew what to do with them, because if we print one of the letters we shall be charged with opposing reforms and improvements in our modern system of education, and if we print the other we may be charged with suggesting that the bounds of our modern system of education be made even wider yet. Here is the first letter, which we give precedence because it is the shorter of the two:

Dear R. B. D.—The other day I was taking a few moments' relaxation on the beach near Cook Street, when I saw a child crying. The child cried out that she was hurt from a big stone thrown by a boy from the top of the cliff. A heavy bruise developed at the top of her spine. Had the stone been just a little larger, no doubt there would have been serious injury, if not worse. Even now I do not know if the bruise is the entire hurt.

Perhaps you may find time to write one of your eloquent little articles on the danger of careless stone-throwing.

M. J. ORD.

1005 Cook Street, Victoria, B.C., May 20, 1930.

The forefathers of the modern boys were fighting animals. They had to fight in order to live; and we suppose they fought their adversaries with stones, because stones were the weapons immediately ready to their hands. Clubs were not so easily come by, because they were products of the manufacturing art, and arts, whether crude or fine, were not cultivated in those days. So the inherited instinct of the modern boy when he sees a stone is to pick it up and throw it at some object for the purpose of demonstrating his skill as a marksman. We have seen boys who are men if still in the land of the living throwing stones at inanimate things; we have even seen such boys throwing stones at other boys; but we never saw one of the older boys throwing stones at little girls.

We do not know whether the apparent difference between the conduct of the old boys and the conduct of modern boys was due to natural chivalry or to education and instruction. Our modern boys, we know, are taught to be kind to animals. We wonder if they are ever taught to be kind and gentle in their treatment of the weaker animals of their own kind. Our modern system of education, basing our opinion on one of the letters we published today and on another letter published a few days ago, seems to be lacking in one simple thing. It is paying a great deal of attention to the brutality of war and little attention to the brutal treatment of small boys by big boys. Yet the individual bully is quite as reprehensible in his methods as the national bully. To many a small boy he is the terror who stalks by day.

The other letter is not, strictly speaking, a letter at all. It is a short and sarcastic marginal comment on the following prospectus:

A meeting of members and prospective members of the New Educational Fellowship will be held in the library of Victoria College, Tuesday, May 27, at 8:15 p.m. with a view to determining and defining the lines of activity which the Victoria Centre might most profitably pursue. Points to be considered: 1. Two meetings monthly: (a) Public, (b) Membership study groups. Fixed dates to be agreed upon. 2. Speakers for public meetings: Outstanding educationalists; Individual experimenters; Study group members on current educational experiments and tendencies. 3. Objective of membership study: (a) Local problems and how to solve them; (b) Specific educational experiments involving new educational principles; how to apply these locally. 4. Proposal to subscribe to French, German and Belgian magazines, affiliated to the N.E.F., and to progressive education. 5. Junior membership for creative activities.

We do not suppose the members of the new Educational Fellowship will object to the publication of the programme they have prepared for the advancement of the cause of education and improvement of the status of the educators. There are two subjects on the "agenda" that the people who pay for education should be interested in. These are: "Local problems and how to solve them;" "Specific educational experiments involving new educational principles and how to apply these locally." What our universities and all the lower seats of learning affiliated therewith, these two problems are worrying the people who are grievously taxed to maintain those institutions. The first problem is the increasing complexity and the growing expense of education. The second problem is the value of the fruits of a modern educational system which is increasing in complexity and cost.

For the lecturers on higher education never appear to consider the point of view of the taxpayer a problem to be interested in. These are the problems that are worrying the people who are grievously taxed to maintain those institutions. The first problem is the increasing complexity and the growing expense of education. The second problem is the value of the fruits of a modern educational system which is increasing in complexity and cost.

matter that should be given the slightest consideration; they never seem to think of the parable of the tree that yielded nothing but leaves, which was cut down and cast in the fire and a tree of another kind planted in the ground it cumbered.

Discussing "this subject," The Winnipeg Tribune of a recent date says:

"The public has got into the habit of taking education, for which it pays enormous sums, too much for granted. And the authorities, while willing to admit that all is not right, rarely get beyond that stage. The basic trouble today is that almost everybody accepts blindly the virtues of universal education, authorized and paid for out of public funds, without enquiring as to whether it is producing what it is expected to produce."

THE ENGLISH PLAYERS

Sir—Will you allow me to convey, through your columns, my warmest thanks for the beautiful flowers received by our last night, and to express my deep appreciation of the generous gift accompanying them. I shall always look back to my stay in your beautiful city with feelings of the liveliest gratitude for the great kindness I have had shown me and with the earnest hope that some day, not very distant, I may have the happiness to see you again.

THE ENGLISH PLAYERS

Sir—May I add my thanks to that of the other members of the Gordon McLeod English Players for many acts of consideration and kindness, together with the help I have received from the host of friends we have made in Victoria.

It will be a long time before we will be able to forget the charming courtesy and hospitality that has been extended to us, and those of us who have to leave this beautiful corner of the Empire will always have a wonderful memory of the charm, culture and enthusiastic warmth which have been displayed to us English artists.

A STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL

Sir—I notice a letter in your paper containing a "Strawberry Festival." I have been for several years away from Victoria, much of the time, at least, I can speak only from a knowledge of visiting principles, some of this mere journalism schools acknowledge, but I would like to at least suggest to the people of the city I have for years called my home city, that they consider, in any plans for a "Strawberry Festival," the type of thing which is being advertised, a lantern type of "party"—a restful thing, the sort at which great numbers of people could meet their old friends, sit about under the trees, even have the adventure of making new friends; quite possibly a large part of the thrill of the "Strawberry Festival" of old days.

I believe advertising, featuring this old-fashioned idea, tied in with the name of a city beloved even by casual passersby for its homeliness, would have more profit than advertising stressing the usual commercial sort of thing, and that it would draw more people from that 10 per cent. known as the leader percentage.

Yates Street, mentioned in the letter to which I refer, would, of course, have a part in such a celebration; so would the various other business streets with historical association in which the type of tourist to which I refer is apt to delight. If it is put before him and his wife—but for a city with such garden possibilities as Victoria's, with Beacon Hill almost within a stone's throw, to stage a festival called a "Strawberry Festival" on a city street—well, perhaps there is room for the type of entertainment, certainly the boulevard café idea is much liked; quite probably there is room for the two types of thing, but the unquestionably is advertising for Victoria in something simply fine to which the people of the surrounding cities are invited, some part of it to be held in a park known to be a place in which profit cannot be taken. At least, the surprise element would enter in.

I believe it is generally acknowledged by students of community advertising that the number of people drawn to, to a considerable extent, of somewhat secondary importance. In a city with individuality in its well-advertised specialties—the English woollens, the Irish linen, etc.—the group known as the 10 per cent. who lead are the buyers who leave the most money when they go. A very little extra urging to come is often all that is needed, but it must be urging that appeals. And there are many urgings.

PREMIER MAKES SHARP DENIAL

Quebec Government Leader Says He Will Not Interfere With Education in Saskatchewan

(Canadian Press)

QUEBEC, Que., May 21.—Vigorous denial of any interference or attempt at interference with the educational affairs of Saskatchewan, was given this morning by Premier Taschereau in response to a declaration by Premier Anderson of that province, who announced that he would not tolerate any meddling by Quebec in the school problems of Saskatchewan.

"I don't know the cause of this announcement on the part of Premier Anderson," said Premier Taschereau. "We have not been meddling and the only reference made to the question was during the passage of the Jewish school bill at the last session of the Legislature. Education in Canada as a whole was referred to by those who took part in the discussion, and I expressed the hope that the same spirit of liberalism shown by the Province of Quebec towards its Jewish citizens would be emulated by Saskatchewan or any of the other provinces which had similar problems to deal with."

"It is not my desire to interfere and I will not interfere in this matter," he continued, "but if Premier Anderson's aim is to stir up racial antagonism, he has certainly missed his mark."

MR. STEVENS RAPS STAND OF PREMIER

Says Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King Is Unworthy to Be Prime Minister of This Dominion

RECORD OF GOV'T ELECTION ISSUE

(Canadian Press)

ARNPRIOR, Ont., May 21.—In a trenchant criticism of the Dominion Liberal Government, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Conservative, Vancouver Centre, here today took strong issue with the recent statement of Premier W. L. Mackenzie King on the now famous "five-cent piece" declaration by the Prime Minister.

"Premier King," Mr. Stevens declared, "in a statement issued to the public press as a reply to the speech of Premier G. Howard Ferguson at London, denied that he had made any statement that could be construed as a declaration by himself of denial of assistance to a province because a Conservative Government was in office."

"What I want the people to know," said Mr. Stevens, "is this, that the Prime Minister refused consideration of the question of unemployment, and further, that he said that if any consideration were to be given at all towards unemployment, it would not be given to a province governed by a Conservative administration."

PLAYS WITH LIFE'S BLOOD

"I want to say, as Premier Ferguson so properly said at London on Friday, that any Prime Minister of Canada that plays with the life's blood and well-being of the people of this country on such a low basis as that, is unworthy to be Prime Minister of this great Dominion."

RECORD OF GOV'T

Touching upon the record of the Government, Mr. Stevens exclaimed: "The issue before the people of Canada is not this or that detail of a budget. The issue before the people of the country is whether the administration of Mackenzie King, after nine years of office, has proven itself fit to lead a country such as Canada along the path of prosperity and advancement."

"ASCO" FIRST AID FOR COMMON ILLS

The Improved Tablet Gives Immediate and Effective Relief

"ASCO" is the name of an effective combination of ingredients scientifically compounded so that it will relieve pain, stop headache and break up a cold without any ill after-effects. It is an improved formula so as to give the maximum relief without fear of depressing the heart or upsetting the stomach. It contains no narcotics, nor quinine, nor harmful drugs. ASCO is not ordinary aspirin. It is improved, it is prescribed by the medical profession for the relief of pain and to reduce fever for headache and for colds.

ASCO is different from many "headache cures" which, when taken in large quantities, often act as an irritant to the delicate lining of the stomach. It also differs from many "cold cures" that act indirectly by purging the liver and bowels. ASCO contains no narcotics, quinine or harmful drugs.

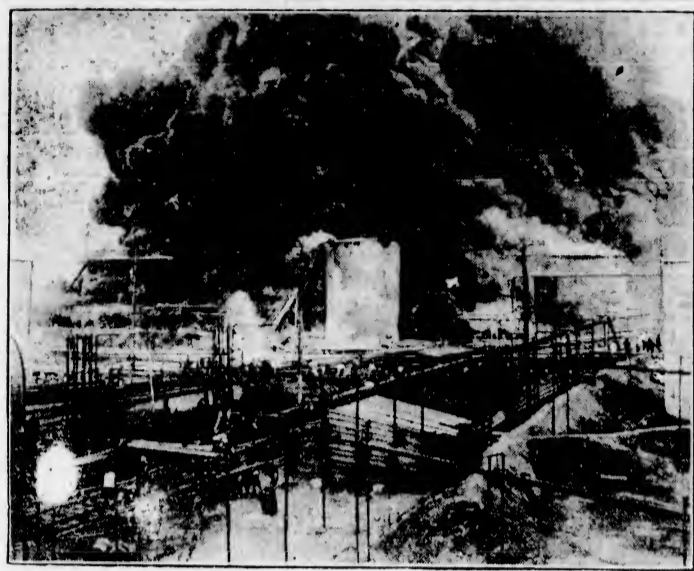

As first aid for fevers and complaints accompanied by feverish conditions, ASCO is a wonder worker; Influenza fever will quickly yield to ASCO.

The medical profession prescribes ASCO in preference to acetylsalicylic acid, for the relief of pain and to reduce fever. The hospitals and clinics use ASCO, while it is almost indispensable for the medicine case of the trained nurse.

Thousands of women who are subject to terrific headaches and pains have found quick and thorough relief in ASCO. It is the greatest help for women ever known. It always helps, never harms.

ASCO is not new. It has been in use and prescribed by the medical profession the world over for over fifteen years; it was used extensively during the world war, but it has been only recently perfected by scientists to give maximum relief and to act as a gentle and natural tonic. Sold by all drug stores, grocery stores, etc., Macdonald's Consolidated local jobber, 10c per packet, four packets 35c.

FEAR SAFETY OF SIX MEN ON TUG

Portland Craft Vigilant Minding Since Columbia Storm on Monday

ASTORIA, Ore., May 21.—The Portland tug Vigilant, with six men aboard and towing an empty barge to Valdez, Ore., in the Astoria Bay region, was reported lost today after the craft left the mouth of the Columbia River late on Monday in the face of one of the worst "blows" experienced in this section of the coast.

Mariners here were emphatic in their belief that the tug could not have withstood the terrific gale, which battered the coastline from Astoria southward during Monday night and through Tuesday.

NEWPORT, Ore., May 21.—

Contingents reported today that the tug Vigilant, with six men aboard, had been sighted off the coast of Newport, where they swept the Pacific Coast from Astoria southward, Monday night and Tuesday. They said Valdez was the tug's last sight.

MAY BAN BOOK

TORONTO, May 21.—The following special dispatch from Ottawa is published by The Toronto Mail and Empire: "Banning the book, 'Generals Died in Bed,' by Charles Vane Harris, which is alleged to libel Canadians who fought in France, was the subject of a question in the House of Commons by Mr. T. L. Church, Toronto Conservative. 'As a result of Mr. Church's question, Hon. W. D. Buler, Minister of National Revenue, promised that inquiries would be made concerning the book.' 'The Northwest Toronto member stated that he had had numerous communications from Toronto veterans' organizations asking if any action was to be taken on the book. 'This book,' Mr. Church declared, 'contains many libelous statements with reference to the Canadian troops, and I would like to know if the minister proposes to prohibit its publication and sale in Canada.' 'Mr. Buler acknowledged that the matter had not been previously brought to his attention, 'I have not read the book,' he said, 'but I will make inquiries.' 'Every time I kiss you it makes me a better man.' 'Well, you don't have to try to get to heaven in one night.'"

Reggie Hayward and Nellie Rogers Are Willows Champions

Both Set Fast Pace in Winning School Track and Field Honors at Cranmore Road Grounds—Principal Hoadley Presents Awards

Reggie Hayward, son of Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., and Nellie Rogers, will reign supreme in track and field circles at the Willows School for the year 1930, as a result of the institution's annual sports day held yesterday afternoon at the Cranmore Road grounds. Both competitors showed superior form in the various events and their victories are well deserved in each case.

The final check-up on points will be made this morning by school officials, but owing to the fact that Hayward and Rogers captured the majority of the boys' and girls' events yesterday, their championships were awarded by the school officials.

Hayward captured the 100, 200, 440-yard events, while Nellie Rogers won the high jump, 100 and 220-yard dashes. In the high jump, Miss Rogers cleared the bar at four feet eleven inches, just a few inches short of the world's record at present held by Ethel Catherwood, of Toronto. Miss Catherwood's record is only a trifle over five feet.

In winning the 220-yard dash, Hayward set a dizzy pace, and although he was not clocked, officials state that he set a new public school record. In the other major events, Hayward ran off with the honors without even being pressed. Following the events, Principal W. E. Hoadley presented the prizes to the winners. Great credit for the splendid showing of the athletes is due to Mr. Thomas Horne, who trained the competitors for weeks at the Willows.

MRS. FERRABEE SPEAKS HERE

PRESIDENT OF WOMAN'S AUXILIARY TO M.S.C.C. VISITS VICTORIA

Explains Opportunity for Missionary Work in New Country

St. John's Schoolroom presented a delightful ray appearance on Tuesday evening to greet the Dominion president of the Women's Auxiliary to the M.S.C.C., Mrs. Gilbert Ferrabee.

The stage was banked with beautiful flowers, including magnificent dogwood, upon which Mrs. Ferrabee specially remarked. The committee of St. John's W.A., under its president, Mrs. Kirk, had decorated the room and made lavish preparation for the refreshments, which were enjoyed by a large gathering of W.A. members and visitors.

Mrs. Ferrabee was cordially welcomed by Rev. Canon Chadwick, who acted as chairman of the proceedings, and who expressed his personal pleasure at having the opportunity of hearing an address from so noted a speaker. Mrs. Ferrabee graciously acknowledged the hearty reception which she was accorded, and expressed her pleasure at being able to meet members of Columbia W.A. again.

MISSIONARY WORK

Taking as the groundwork of her address the message of the risen Christ to the church in Philadelphia, "I have set before thee an open door," Mrs. Ferrabee showed the many doors of opportunity which are open to the church, and made a survey of the missionary work of the Canadian church, both in Canada and in Japan, China and India. The three great forces used by the Woman's Auxiliary are spiritual, educational and financial, which result in taking the gospel to the heathen, training the young, and in financing medical and industrial missions, both in Canada and overseas. Work in Canada includes missions to Jews, Indians, Eskimos and Orientals, as well as among the white settlers on the Prairies and elsewhere. Mrs. Ferrabee urged co-operation among W.A. members.

Mrs. Dickson, diocesan president of Columbia W.A., expressed, on behalf of the meeting, the deep appreciation felt by all of Mrs. Ferrabee's inspiring and instructive address, as well as the joy of having the opportunity of meeting her again, which the meeting heartily endorsed.

Following the benediction, pronounced by Canon Chadwick, an informal social hour was spent, many members being introduced to Mrs. Ferrabee, who was accompanied by Mrs. Brimer, Dominion Dorcas secretary, whose guest she has been during her short stay in the city.

Clubs and Societies

Dominion President Visits

Mrs. Ferrabee, president of the Dominion Board of the W.A., was a passenger on the Princess Mary. On the arrival of the boat at Alert Bay Mrs. Ferrabee was welcomed by the president of the local branch of the W.A., Mrs. Dikken, and members of the seniors and Indian branches, and also some of the girls and junior branches. Little Eliza Salmon, a pupil of the Indian Residential School, presented a buttonhole of lilies of the valley on behalf of the juniors. Norah Alfred presented Mrs. Ferrabee a bouquet of flowers, and Miss Mary Warren gave her a photograph of the Indian branch. Unfortunately time did not permit Mrs. Ferrabee to leave the wharf. Before the Princess Mary left Miss Agnes King on behalf of the Girls' W.A. presented Mrs. Nixon with a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Nixon has for many years been associated with this branch, and as she was leaving for a trip to the Old Country, it was a tribute to her from the girls.

Oyster Institute Entertains

On Friday the Oyster Bay Women's Institute held what proved to be one of the most enjoyable and successful entertainments, in the form of a whist drive in the Oyster schoolhouse. There were over seventy people present, fourteen tables of whist being in play. The prize-winners for the evening were: Ladies, first, Mrs. Charles Baker, of Chemainus; second, Mrs. Jones, of Saltspring; consolation, Mrs. Haver, of Chemainus; first, Mr. Walter Porter; second, Mr. Easton, of Ladysmith; consolation, Mr. Chambers, of Ladysmith. A lovely wool quilt, entirely made by members of the Institute, was drawn for, and won by Mr. John Solmie, of Blainey. A cake made and donated by Mrs. E. Peetles was won by Mrs. Charles Baker. Metropolitan Ladies' Aid Metropolitan Ladies' Aid Society held its postponed monthly meeting on Friday in the church parlors, with a fair attendance of members. Following the usual routine business, the question of having a sale of work this Fall was discussed, and it was decided that one should be held. Four sewing circles were formed, with the following convener: Mrs. F. H. Willis, Mrs. W. H. Hart, Mrs. W. H. Ozard and Mrs. E. E. Westcott. If any of the ladies of the congregation wish to join and help in the undertaking, they are asked to telephone any of the above ladies. During the music festival week the society served luncheon from May 6 to 9, inclusive, and upwards of two hundred guests were served. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. T. H. Adams, Mrs. Kint and Mrs. A. H. Adams, the collection taken to go towards flowers for the sick.

Following the reading and adoption of the minutes, a satisfactory report was heard from the financial secretary. It was decided to postpone until November the rummage sale, which was planned

The New Evening Wrap Is Very Short

SOMETIMES brevity is the soul of smartness. Perhaps the mind goes to the increased length of skirts and to long gloves, but consider the evening wrap—the wrap of this Spring and Summer—and learn the other side of the story. Evening wraps this season have been short of the inches that made them three-quarters length or full-length in the Winter. Now, they may reach a point just between the waist and the hips. Sleeves, too, have been cut away in the cause of chic, and their new short length emphasizes the importance of gloves. Velvet and velveteen in every vivid color have lent themselves to making the brevity as gay as possible. Black is a smart color for the new evening gown, which is often in chiffon and lace. (1) An air of stately grandeur characterizes this evening frock of black silk crepe combined with black silk Spanish lace which is permitted to trail softly at each side. (2) A chic little velveteen wrap with a fur collar, which just covers the hips. Its sleeves are of seven-eighths length. Loose wing drapery falling from the arm holes and shoulders in the back gives it a final distinctive flair. (3) A lovely gown of black silk lace sponsoring the deep U decolletage. Notice the regal fanwise spread of the severely pointed train. (Sketch is by Vogue).

Charming Fashions of 1930 Shown by Artists on West End Stage—Beautiful Evening Frocks Worn

All last season's clothes are now quite obsolete, and whether one likes them or not the long skirts and the trimmed fashions of 1930 are here, says an article in The Times (London). If they are sometimes worn with difficulty in private life, they are worn with grace and distinction on the stage, where practice has made deportment in them perfect.

From the revival of "The Calendar" at the Lyceum it is possible to gather what Ascot will look like. Here Miss Margaret Bannerman has an astounding white romaine two-piece; the coat with two tiers merging into the three-quarter skirt gives the appearance of a five-tiered dress. It is trimmed with black fox which makes a high collar. The skirt reaches the ground all round. Others wear lime green and yellow lace dresses with trailing ends which would be a trial in the padlock. Miss Bannerman has also a lace evening dress in three shades of blue, with long sleeves; it is a good example of the long evening dress.

"THE MULBERRY BUSH" Miss Carson has an evening gown in shaded rose net strewn with large silk spots; it is tight to the waist and made with long sleeves (tight to the elbow with flowing ends); the skirt is very simple and flows out nearly a yard on the ground at the back. In the last act she has a pretty cinnamon-brown satin dress made with a belt, sets of godet pleats at the side and touches of orange and ivory are on the collar. Miss Mercia Swinburne wears in the first act an oyster satin evening gown made with a circular skirt and a cabochon ornament on the bodice; her short evening coat of mother-of-pearl paillettes, with a cape collar, is very closely woven. In the last act she has a coat and skirt of green shantung with a coffee-color blouse; the skirt is finished with two slit pockets like a man's. Miss Tetley in the first act wears green with a pleated skirt and long, tight sleeves. Over this is a top coat in a large patterned check tweed in mixtures of grey, green and black trimmed with a silver grey fox; her hat and bag are of tweed. In the last act she has a cherry silk frock with short sleeves and a pleated skirt and a necklace of flat brown and white wood.

"DEBONNAIR"

In "Debonnaire," the leading lady who is always on the move, is seen for the most part in a day frock of blue and white printed crepe de Chine with a pleated skirt which dips slightly back and front; with this she has a long coat of powder-blue cloth with squirrel collar and cuffs. Miss Kate Cutler has two evening dresses, one of which, of flesh-colored chiffon, is worn with a short velvet cloak and fur-trimmed cape collar. Miss Diana Wilson's lacquer-red georgette evening dress is on long, graceful lines. Miss May Hallett's sheath-like evening dress of Chinese blue and silver brocade is cut with a low neck, and the glove-like sleeves end in points over the hands and on the shoulders. Miss Nancy Pawley's broken white chiffon frock reaches evenly to the ground; the cape is arranged on one side only. A very long black georgette evening gown is worn by Miss Doris Clemence, and with it

DAMASK ROSE

In the "Damask Rose" there are gorgeous period dresses. The colors are extraordinarily mellow. Miss Wilma Berkeley in the last act wears a beautiful rose-pink dress of heavy tulle; it is hand-embroidered and has a jeweled panel on the skirt and jewelry on the bodice. Miss Aimee Augarde's magnificent lemon and white brocade gown has a white duchess satin panel and trimmings of old English edelweiss lace. Every dress is made with minute attention to accuracy.

Lace Adds Softness to New Gowns

WITH the further development of femininity in the mode, it is not surprising that the fragile beauty of lace is of importance. Chanel has accented black lace in a series of excellent models, some with pet little pella, and thread lace is strongly favored by several other houses. Sometimes, lace forms the whole dress and again, it is combined with chiffon or tulle. Little lace shawls and jackets are worn over plain chiffon dresses. On the left is a Vogue sketch of smart lace costumes, showing a formal gown with a short and gracious train, the circular frill on the bodice ending in romantic flared wings in the back. The less formal dinner dress is featured by ruffles and lace inserts, the sheerness of chiffon and a demure ankle length. The lace bolero has kimono sleeves, finished with double ruffles. On the right, a charming lace frock is covered by a turquoise blue chiffon velvet wrap of the new short type.

NEW SHIP CANAL CEREMONY IS SET

Welland Waterway Is Now Open at Lake Ontario and Lake Erie Ends

OTTAWA, May 21.—Official opening of the new Welland Ship Canal will take place on September 1, it was announced at the Department of Railways and Canals today. At present the canal is in operation at both the Lake Erie and Lake Ontario ends.

"We have given the matter most careful consideration," said Mr. V. I. Smart, deputy minister of railways, "and would be glad if possible to associate the opening of this important undertaking with the anniversary of Confederation, and have made every possible effort to complete it by July 1. We are, however, not satisfied that to undertake the operation of the canal as a whole at that date would be consistent with safe operation of this tremendous new structure, on which $120,000,000 has been expended. It is with a view to making certain on that score that we have decided to proceed more deliberately and arrange the opening for September 1."

"This course is approved by the Minister of Railways and Canals, Hon. T. A. Crerar, who recently visited the canal. It happens that September 1 falls on a Monday, and is also Labor Day. There will thus be a certain appropriateness in the new date, in view of the contribution that labor has made towards the provision of the canal works."

Linens and Cottons Used in Many Ways

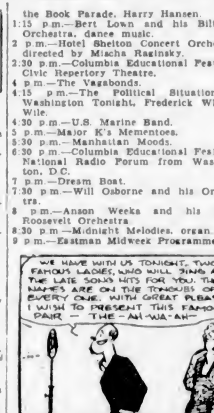

PLAIN and printed linens, printed cotton crepes and voiles, cotton or silk pique, toile de soie, washable silk crepes, shantungs, foulards, printed and faconne shirtings and sheer patterned woollens—these are the stuffs the Summer mode is made of. While, alone or with a vivid accent of red, green or blue, the pastel pinks, blues, greens, yellows and apricots—these are the delightful colors. Pliable hats of pique or linen and wider hats of starched linen. Panama or rough straw—shoes of white suede or antelope trimmed with brown, black and blue—these are the complements of the Summer mode. The Vogue sketches on the left show a jacket suit of chalk-white shantung with effective touches of orange-red dotted chiffon as a tie and as cuffs. The dress is sleeveless, with the hip-line banded and buttoned. The jacket is a bolero model with the chic new three-quarters length sleeves. Rebus is responsible for the wide-brimmed hat of brown bangkok. Overlapping bands of grosgrain ribbon in red, pale blue and brown give a Roman striped effect—a color note that is excellent in the present hat world. The Oxford shawl honors with the pump in the shoe mode, and both have refreshing variations from the models of last season. The pump is finished with banding of brown and the Oxford with a double toe cap and heel of blue kid. On the right is a smart 1930 tennis costume and printed shantung in white, red and brown tones—Sketches by Vogue.

ATTRACTIVE TEA

Woman's Auxiliary of Nanaimo Hospital Organizes Entertainment

NANAIMO, May 21.—At the home of Mrs. Fred Busby, Franklin Street, yesterday afternoon, the Woman's Auxiliary to Nanaimo Hospital was the hostess at a tea. Despite the inclement weather there was a good turnout, the sum of $62.30 being realized. Fine entertainment, a grand drawing, dainty refreshments, candy and home cooking stalls, greatly enhanced the general funds. The pretty reception rooms were bright with cut flowers; an artistic combination of pale pink roses, blue iris and yellow tulips enhanced the pretty table appointments and the general setting. Mrs. J. O. Nichols, with Mrs. Busby, received the many guests.

Pouring tea in turn were Mrs. J. Nichols, Mrs. E. Mitchell, Mrs. G. Bell Brown, Mrs. Peter Weigle, home cooking, Mrs. Thomas Bulman, Mrs. Mary J. Carnell, Miss Louise Caldwell, candy stall, Mrs. Peter Weigle, Miss Eva Brown and Mrs. J. Dixon; drawings, Mrs. George Johnson, and Mrs. Kneen, Mrs. A. M. Turner made an efficient cashier.

Miss Hazel Martin, Mrs. Frank Reynolds, with Mrs. Fred Newman, playing delightful accompaniments, furnished an interesting programme. Miss Johnson gave recitations in finished style.

The committees responsible for the successful venture were: Mrs. W. Rummings, general convener, assisted by Mrs. Allan Hall, Mrs. A. C. Van Houten, Mrs. Earl Hall, Mrs. A. Boothroyd and Mrs. Cyril Baker.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Busby before dispersing.

Every man has two great ambitions. First, to own his home. Second, to own a car to get away from his home.

CASE REMANDED

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—The case against Jack Sieman, returned here from Vancouver, B.C., to face charges from which he fled a year ago, was remanded in Federal Court today until Friday, to permit appearance of his attorney, Mr. John J. Sullivan, of Seattle.

DANGER LURKS in Half-Clean Teeth!

Greatly magnified picture of decay between teeth. Note how (having high surface) cavity fails to penetrate deep down where the cause of decay may lurk.

This diagram shows how Colgate's active foam (having low surface tension) penetrates deep down into the space between teeth, cleansing it completely where the toothbrush cannot reach.

Decay starts when tiny crevices are left uncleaned... mere surface brushing is not sufficient protection.

Colgate's penetrating foam dislodges decaying particles from hard-to-clean places... cleans teeth completely. Don't risk the dangers of half-clean teeth. Play safe. Of course you want white, lovely teeth—Colgate's will polish them perfectly... but Colgate's does more. Its famous foam floods out the decaying particles hidden in tiny spaces between teeth and gives an antiseptic bath where ordinary dentifrices can't reach. Why not get these two advantages—each so vital? Buy a tube of Colgate's today—protect your teeth.

Colgate's is most economical—the 25c tube of Colgate's contains more toothpaste than any other nationally advertised brand priced at a quarter.

NOTED STARS ARE SEEN IN PARADE

Featured Players Display Talents in Dominion Offering for Balance of Week

More than thirty-five of Hollywood's best-known stars and featured players will entertain at the Dominion Theatre today in one of the gayest entertainment revues ever brought out of Hollywood, when "Paramount on Parade" opens for a three-day run.

Stars who have enamoured the public imagination engage in a joyous rivalry of acting, singing, dancing, comedy and love-making in this festival of the stars. Featured players who have drawn crowds to see them when they appeared alone are here joined together in one big melange of sprightly happiness. "Paramount on Parade" is an intimate medley of mirth and music, the new type screen frolic originated by Paramount.

The best-known players on the talking screen appear individually and in groups. Maurice Chevalier, for instance, sings two new song hits and appears in two Chevalier interludes. One of them was directed by Ernst Lubitsch, who made "The Love Parade." Clara Bow is heard singing her new love ballad, "True to the Navy," and Nancy Carroll sings, dances and makes merry to the music of Abe Lyman's famous band, in an interlude called "Dance Mad."

CAPITOL STARS CATTLE RANGING

"Under a Texas Moon" is Opportunity for Stirring Outdoor Comedy

"Under a Texas Moon," Warner Bros.' first 100 per cent, talking, singing, out-door picture in technicolor, which opens today at the Capitol Theatre, for a three-day run, is an adaptation of Stewart Edward White's "The Two-Gun Man."

It recounts the gay adventures of another Don Juan, an ingratiating liar, who, with two guitar-strumming companions, makes amorous pig-images through the cattle country, capturing thieves and thereby escaping capture—only to ride jauntily on, hunting new adventure.

The scenes of "Under a Texas Moon" are exquisite, all being taken in the colors of nature. The capable cast is headed by the inimitable Frank May as Don Carlos. Many of the famous beauties of the screen are included, among them Armida, Ingeborg Berg, Myrna Loy, Mona Maris, Betty Boyd and Eddyne Kramer. Western bad men are played by Noah Beery, Tully Marshall, Tom Dix, Jerry Barrett, Francisco Maran, Charles Selton and Bruce Covington. Michael Curtiz directed.

PLAYHOUSE: "The future picture," surmise James Cruze, the director of "The Great Gabbo," now at the Playhouse Theatre, will be a colored television affair, with third dimension and dialogue. When the dawn of this futuristic means of projecting takes place, there will possibly be a licensed plan, perhaps in government control, whereby the broadcasting company will receive revenue.

The Story Behind the Play

By J. J. GELLER

"SAPPHO" Alphonse Daudet is best remembered in the land of his birth as the author of a number of psychological novels of a high order. All of his books are singularly free of any moral or lesson. The sole exception is "Sappho," which he wrote during 1883, and it preached that the vices of sin is death, in the midst of Parisian society Daudet, who was a man of lofty ideals and noble principles, could not help looking the lives and loves of the artists and the character of the eternal feminine in her full development. If he could portray women of cordial self-reliance and describe their weaknesses and virtues, his theme might serve of some purpose to society as well as to his two young sons when they read their mother's story.

Daudet set about to demonstrate his case by writing of an artist's model, Fanny Legrand, who, after a series of affairs with others, discovers the one true love. The story ends with the final abandonment of her lover at the entreaties of his family—an act of self-renunciation. The novelist called his story "Sappho" after the famous Greek poetess and charmer. Fanny Legrand earned this cognomen in Daudet's tale when she was induced to pose for a sculptor who modeled from her likeness a statue of a Greek woman which all Paris recognized as Sappho.

In time the story was completed and, following his usual custom, Daudet arranged for its serial publication in the daily "Echo de Paris," with the opening dedication, "For my sons, when they reach the age of twenty." With its last installment it was published in book form, and from all sections of Paris there came suggestions that "Sappho" should be dramatized. In collaboration with a French playwright, Adolphe Belot, Daudet adapted his popular story for the stage. It remained for the novelist to paint the human emotions of the characters while Belot supplied the background for the sensational scene.

As a drama, "Sappho" was given at the Gymnase, in Paris, on December 18, 1893, and proved a keen disappointment to all who witnessed it. The reason, no doubt, lay in the fact that the play was badly cast and the actress selected to interpret the role of Fanny Legrand was unequal to the occasion. It required acting talent of a high order to play the irresistible, pitiful woman.

When this fault was pointed out to the stage management it withdrew the play immediately and engaged a new company with the famous Gabrielle Rejane in the featured role, and at once the play became a Continental sensation.

A few years later when Mme. Rejane toured America in a repertoire of plays in her own language, she included "Sappho." Acting in French, she presented it to the New Yorkers for three days, but it failed to arouse the comment that it had occasioned in Paris, and was promptly forgotten until the English actress, Olga Nethersole, visited that country in the interests of the drama. It was her ambition to become famous as the supreme exponent of those unconventional stage women like Camille and Carmen. She now sought to add Fanny Legrand to her lists of conquests.

An examination of Daudet's "Sappho" in dramatic form, which had suited Rejane and Sarah Bernhardt, was too mild for Olga Nethersole, and she accordingly engaged Clyde Fitch to make a different, but more vigorous adaptation. Fitch discarded many sequences in the French play and substituted a number of his own which included two scenes that later caused the police to bar "Sappho" from the stage. He made a pathological study of the main character. Daudet's original creation was tame in comparison to Fitch's.

When the play finally opened in Wallack's Theatre on February 16, 1900, it caused all tongues to wag. Complaints poured into the city officials and the theatre was forced to shut down. Miss Nethersole was indicted, but on trial she was quickly acquitted and resumed her "Sappho" without any further molestation. The play became one of the most popular vehicles for stock companies and the popular-priced theatrical circuits.

Dockside Cafe In Studio Is True to Detail

The film producer today gets "atmosphere" in a scene in a remarkably effective way. This was particularly impressed on one at the Shepherd's Bush studio during the filming of "You Know What Sailors Are," now showing at the Columbia Theatre, a Gaumont-British film based on W. E. Townend's novel, "A Light for His Pipe."

The setting was a Mediterranean seaport cafe reproduced with amazing fidelity down to the smallest detail, and an exact counterpart of any such establishment one may find around the Marseilles docks. The habits of the place were equally true to life, and this reality of representation, coupled with Evelyne's instinct for a "situation," created an atmosphere extremely effective and convincing.

HUMAN DRAMA IN DESERT TOLD

Background of "Desert Heroes" is Awe-Inspiring, Supported With Sublimating Acting

"Desert Heroes," Universal's remarkable all-talking drama of human nature, which comes to the Coliseum Theatre today, is a picture of a high and distinguished order. It runs the gamut of human emotions and actions. It has romance, adventure, pathos and humor. It achieves suspense of a nature that has never been surpassed in motion pictures.

Its action is shown against a canvas of awe-inspiring and awe-inspiring—the majestic, illimitable desolation of the great Mojave Desert. Against this tremendous background is played out a human drama whose compelling interest is never allowed to flag.

"Desert Heroes" is marked by superb acting. Charles Bickford, Raymond Hatton and Fred Kohler give characterizations that are notable contributions to the art of the screen. Splendid performances also are given by Fritz Ridgeway, Marie Alba, Joe de la Cruz, Buck Connors and Walter James.

Group Adopts Amendment to Elections Act

OTTAWA, May 21.—Provision for facilitating the holding of by-elections within six months following a general election is made in an amendment to the Dominion Elections Act adopted in the Dominion elections committee of the House of Commons today. The amendment provides for the use of the same voters' lists prepared for the general election at any by-election held within six months.

By-elections of Cabinet ministers, the event of a change of Government, and by-elections brought about for any other reason, would be affected.

Assistance to blind men in casting their votes will be provided for in the committee's recommendations. A suggestion that the same proposed act be extended to illiterate was rejected as open to abuse.

CHAPTER XXIII

The bell in the cupola of Don Jaime's little adobe church was calling its last summons to the faithful when Roberto and her host left the house on foot. The streets of the pueblo were deserted, save for some semi-naked babies and an unconscious number of cur dogs, as they passed through.

As Don Jaime's firm step sounded in the tiled entrance, the congregation which had been seated on benches, rose en masse—and since the padre had not as yet appeared on the altar, Roberto realized that here was a gesture of profound respect to the lord of the rancho.

Don Jaime led her down the main aisle and crossed with her over to the organ which stood against the wall. The choir sat on benches in the rear of the organ and an upholstered chair stood beside the organ seat.

"For company," Don Jaime murmured, and indicated that Roberto should occupy it. Then he sat in at the organ, pulled out the stops and tried the pedals. Finding some difficulty he stood erect and peered back of the organ. And now Roberto realized why her host kept a short buggy whip on top of the instrument, for he seized it and administered a sharp tap to something hidden from her gaze.

"Sil, Don Jaime, Sil," a voice cried anxiously.

"The trouble with my people," Don Jaime whispered, "is that if permitted to lean against anything they fall asleep. My organ-pumper is no exception."

The padre, in his vestments, entered from the sacristy, and as he advanced to the altar Don Jaime's little organ crashed into a sonorous prelude; then his brown chair, taking the cue from a vigorous nod of the master's raven head, sang:

"Come, Holy Ghost, Creator blest,
And in our hearts take up thy rest."

The girl watched Don Jaime, who knew not one note from another but who played amazingly well by ear because God had created him a troubadour. His dark face was alight with the delight he gleaned from his simple task; for all his huge body, there was in his attitude and in the lustre of his eyes something that proclaimed to her again the odd, little-boy quality in him, touching her as she had never been touched before.

She gazed about her. Dusk fat women, in bright, print calico dresses and gay shawls, men in overalls and clean gingham shirts, sans neckties, their sombrero on the floor beside them, little barefoot boys and girls, their black eyes bent upon Roberto with frank, primitive curiosity, knelt on the hard red tiles.

His people! Never before had she met a man who claimed as his people those with whom he could not claim a relationship. Never before had she met a man whose clannish instincts, whose reverence for the traditions of his ancestors, were so strong as in Don Jaime. A part of the man dwelt in the remote past, content with the riches of simplicity and health, contemptuous of money for money's sake, scornful of its power—a sort of spiritual worldling chained to his environment by the obligations it thrust upon him, yet not wishing to avoid or decry them—rather relishing them, in fact.

"Strange, strange man," the girl reflected. "There he sits with a look of exultation on his face, and yet I know he has not the most remote interest in the ultimate disposal of his immortal soul. He killed my Uncle Tom and is too honest to think of pretending to me that he regrets it. This morning he said he loved me—yet he has not made love to me nor will he. I wonder if that was just—come of his Irish blarney or his Castilian instinct for conveying compliments for their own sake. He's a strange mixture yet there is nothing complex about him. He thinks straight, talks straight and acts straight. He couldn't dissimble if he wanted to. Oh, dear, I'm afraid I wish I'd never met him. He's one of those terrible men one must take seriously."

The service proceeded. Roberto dreamed on. . . Don Jaime's low voice reached her. "Now, then, Bobby, do your stuff."

She sang as she had never sung before. "See their eyes," Don Jaime whispered as she sat down. "The poor devils. They loved it. Hand-de's 'Where'er You Walk' isn't sung in our church, but who here knows the difference, and who cares? An encore, Bobby."

She sang it. Then she got through a sermon in Spanish, at the conclusion of which the padre, addressing Don Jaime, begged him to convey his thanks and that of his proteges to the altar. Don Jaime translated the passage, and a few minutes later she saw him stooping over the lap of a girl and lifting therefrom an infant. He carried it over to Roberto. "My son-to-be godson," he explained. "Little brown rascal. He's as fat as a woodchuck, and when he grows up he will be unenergetic. If not downright lazy. Well, to the baptisms! I found him. Here comes the padre."

She watched him holding the stout infant while the sacrament of baptism was being administered; she marked the pride and pleasure in the young mother's face at this signal honor conferred upon her and hers, when the ceremony over, Don Jaime kissed the infant and handed the mother the customary largesse. To the godmother, too, he made a gift of money; then, with a paternal pat on the shoulders of all concerned, including the padre, he rejoined Roberto and together they walked back through the pueblo to the hacienda. En route women curtied to them, men removed their hats and bowed, soft voices murmured, "Buenos dias, Don Jaime," cur dogs sniffed his heels and grimy little hands were thrust into his.

At the head of the single street Don Jaime looked back. "A contented people," he declared. "Chili peppers drying on every roof and ample corn for the tortillas; a tiny garden for onions and lettuce and beans, labor exchanged for bright calico and overalls and gingham at cost at the ranch commissary; no debts, no rents, no lawsuits, freedom from a puritanical code of morals. Nothing to annoy them save a little labor for the man who exploits them and pays them starvation wages and who, when they are naughty, whips them. Sometimes I could wish I, too, were a peon. Well-we'll and the price of beef bothers them not, nor taxes nor notes at the bank."

"Nor sheep," Roberto supplemented. "Speaking of which," he continued, "we will ride out and visit the woolies after luncheon, if you care for a ride. We've kept holy the Sabbath forenoon, so let us enjoy the Sabbath afternoon."

"Crooked Bill," meanwhile, was wondering why his niece was such a poor correspondent, when Harms, the butler, entered with the mail. Two envelopes, one slim and the other fat, bore the return address of the Rancho Valle Verde, so Crooked Bill opened the slim one and read:

"My dear Mr. Latham:
"I wired for your permission to pay my court to your lovely niece, Miss Roberto Antrim. In granting the desired permission, for which I am deeply grateful, you saw fit to give me some wholly unnecessary and rather silly advice on how to be successful in love."

"My father, in his callow youth, may have been steeped in the Castilian mode of courtship. He had more Spanish blood in his veins than his son. But I am no such bungling operator in the arena of courtship. I'll have you know that I'm a real live nephew of your own Uncle Sam, because I judge from your telegram that you think I'm as sentimental and romantic as a Neapolitan street singer."

"My dear Mr. Latham, you know nothing of your charming niece's disposition. The finest way in the world for me to kill my feeble prospects would be for me to wangle a guitar under her window and sing 'Bare las Olas.' And anyhow, what's your interest in me that causes you to be so free with your foolish advice? I suspect you would like me to get in Dutch."

"I think she likes me, but she doesn't know whether I'm crazy about her or not, even when I swear I am. I figure that the best way to get her winging is to keep her guessing, but—quien sabe! If you have any other suggestions for helping along the game of your old friend Patricio Jesus Higuera's son, let them fly."

"Sincerely yours,
"J. M. Higuera."

Crooked Bill read and re-read this remarkable document and with a huge sigh laid it aside. "I've overplayed my hand," he murmured, and took up Roberto's letter, which ran as follows:

"Dear Uncle Bill:
"I am ashamed of myself for having neglected you so, but the fact is I have been having such a wonderful time at Don Jaime's ranch (I call him Jimmy) that I haven't had time to write."

"Uncle Bill, he's marvelous. Everybody thinks so and says so—consequently it must be true. His lawyer, Don Prudencio Alviso, whom we visited yesterday, says God only made one Jaime Miguel Higuera, and the mould was destroyed. He is very bold, he sings and plays divinely, he is a sort of feudal baron and he works hard all day with his men. He hasn't laid off a day since I came, but he lets me ride around with him. He has thousands of acres of cotton, thousands more of alfalfa, thousands more of cattle range and all the cattle in the world. He still suffers a little from the wounds Uncle Tom inflicted on him but he will not admit this. He's very humorous and one never grows weary of his society. Mignon worships from afar and envies the peon women who kiss his hand after some kindness. 'I haven't thought of Glen Hackett more than twice since coming here and then only to compare him, to his disadvantage, to the amazing Jimmy. If he'd only make love to me like a reasonable man should I'd fall for him—man should, I think I'd fall for him—hard."

The above deal is an excellent example of the principle of restricting pre-emptive original suit bids to seven probable tricks to Major suits only.

In a previous article I stated that pre-emptive original suit bids should be so regulated as to in-dictate game probability with no more than the average expectancy of support (three tricks) in hand of partner. So regulated, we find that pre-emptive original suit bids of three to show seven probable tricks, based wholly or principally in the suit so bid, are sound in principle if a Major suit, but unsound if a Minor suit.

As explained many times, the holding of but seven probable tricks with a long Minor suit the trump, calls for a bid of but one only, as with this number of tricks there exists a much better chance for game at No Trumps than with the Minor suit the trump. Whereas, if the long suit be a Major and the combined hands can make game at No Trumps, they can usually also make game with the long suit the trump. In other words, whether the long suit be a Major or a Minor, the same number of tricks are feasible, but with the Minor the trump eleven tricks must be made for games. Such number of tricks is possible only in case partner holds better than the average expectancy of support.

As may be observed by the above deal, South can easily make four odd at Hearts but cannot make five odd. Thus had South's suit been Diamonds or Clubs, he would not have been justified in making a preenlivened bid wherewith to indicate game probability with such suit the trump.

SALIENT POINTS OF THE BIDDING
Auction: South, with a solid seven card Heart suit and worthless side cards, opens with a pre-emptive bid of three Hearts, concluding the bidding.

Contract: As in Auction, South opens the bidding with three Hearts. West passing, North, with three supporting tricks, carries the bid to four Hearts.

THE PLAY
West opens the King of Clubs. The Dummy going down, South (Declarer) plays the six from Dummy, East the encouraging eight and South the four. West next leads the Ace of Clubs and follows with the three, East winning with the Queen. East now leads the King of Spades, which South wins with the Ace in Dummy and leads the Ace and King of Diamonds, discarding thereon the seven and eight of Spades. This practically concludes the play, as South must win the remaining tricks.

This is a sample of what are known of lawyers' resources: The defendant in the breach of promise action was a singularly ugly little man.

"Gentlemen of the jury," said his counsel, "you've heard the evidence of the plaintiff, and you've doubtless admired her. Now, do you believe this enchanting, this fascinating, this captivating, this accomplished girl would favor the advances or listen, save with scorn, to the amorous protestations of the wretched and repulsive creature, the deformed and degraded defendant?"

"His client tried to interrupt. 'Silence, sir!' replied his counsel, in an undertone. 'Gentlemen,' he continued, 'do you think this girl would ever have permitted an offer of marriage to be made her by this miserable atom of humanity, who would have to stand on a penny to look over twopenny?' The jury thought not. Verdict for defendant.

FOUR EXAMPLES OF MOTORING ECONOMY

TO illustrate the big cash saving you can make by adopting Castrol, we show four examples in which four motor car owners driving different makes of cars and living in widely separated parts of Canada have slashed their oil bills. An ordinary motor oil at 35c a quart is expensive . . . it gives only 500 miles before a change is necessary. Castrol at 50c a quart is Economy! Castrol gives not just 500 miles . . . but 2000 MILES WITHOUT CHANGE. It is a lubricant that talks dollars and cents and makes no bones about it.

EXAMPLE 1.

Showing comparative Annual saving made by Chrysler 70 owner, using Castrol at 50c per quart instead of an ordinary oil at 35c per quart. Crank case capacity—6 quarts.

Mr. J. P. L. of Sherbrooke, Que., driving a Chrysler covers 20,000 miles in a year's time. Castrol gives him 2,000 miles without change. Thus he requires only 10 changes of oil a year. If he used a 500 mile oil he would require 40 changes a year. Here is his cash saving:

40 changes of an ordinary oil @ $2.10 per filling	$84
10 changes of Castrol @ 3.00 per filling	30
→ His Saving	$54

EXAMPLE 2.

Showing comparative saving made by Studebaker Commander owner, using Castrol at 50c per quart instead of an ordinary oil at 35c per quart. Crank case capacity—6 quarts.

Mr. R. H. M. of Toronto, Ont., drives a Studebaker. Last year he covered 30,000 miles using Castrol. He changed his oil every 2,000 miles. Thus he required only 15 changes. Had he used an ordinary 500 mile oil, he would have paid for 60 changes. He made a real saving as these figures show:

60 changes of an ordinary oil @ $2.10 per filling	$126
15 changes of Castrol @ 3.00 per filling	45
→ His Saving	$81

EXAMPLE 3.

Showing comparative saving made by Chevrolet owner, using Castrol at 50c per quart instead of an ordinary oil at 35c per quart. Crank case capacity—4 quarts.

Miss K. F. B. of Halifax, N.S., drives her Chevrolet Sedan about 14,000 miles a year. Formerly she used a 500 mile oil. Now she uses Castrol and changes every 2,000 miles only. Her saving figures out like this:

28 changes of an ordinary oil @ $1.40 per filling	$39.20
7 changes of Castrol @ $2.00 per filling	14.00
→ Her Saving	$25.20

EXAMPLE 4.

Showing comparative saving made by Packard owner, using Castrol at 50c per quart instead of an ordinary oil at 35c per quart. Packard crank case capacity—8 quarts.

Mr. G. N. D. of Vancouver, B.C., drives one of his cars, a Packard Eight, about 12,000 miles a year. He uses Castrol and drains and refills his crank case after every 2,000 miles of driving. Thus, he requires only 6 changes of Castrol a year. He would require 24 changes of a 500 mile oil:

24 changes of an ordinary oil @ $2.80 per filling	$67.20
6 changes of Castrol @ 4.00 per filling	24.00
→ His Saving	$43.20

How Much Can YOU Save?

If your car is not listed in either chart shown here, get out your pencil . . . and figure out just how much you can save in a year's time by adopting Castrol! You will find that every time you fill your crank case, Castrol saves you from $2 to $4! For the sake of easy figuring, do not consider "make-up", BUT REMEMBER: only half as much Castrol is required for "make-up" as any other oil!

MISSION CIRCLE HOLDS MEETING

GARDEN CITY, May 21.—The Mission Circle of the Garden City United Church held its monthly meeting in the church on Friday evening. After the devotional exercises and business the Temperance secretary gave a reading on Friday evening. The president and vice-president gave readings from "Friendships Trails." It was decided to hold an anniversary tea on June 4. The meeting closed with prayer and immediately followed a social half-hour, when pianoforte solos and recitations were enjoyed.

Mrs. High Flyer had engaged a new chauffeur that morning, a had evidently from the country. She had given him a fine uniform to be worn only on special occasions.

During the evening she was entertaining several distinguished visitors in the lounge, when the man stuck his head through the doorway and asked: "Please ma'am, am I to put on my own clothes or yours?"—Edinburgh Evening Dispatch.

ROYSTON MAKES PRESENTATIONS

Mr. and Mrs. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Wing Honored on Eve of Departure

ROYSTON, May 21.—Under the auspices of the school trustees a what drive and dance was held at the schoolroom on Tuesday in honor of Mr. Williams, school principal, and Mrs. Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wing of the Auto Camp, who are leaving for Rhodesia, winners of the prizes at what were Ladies' First, Mrs. Dunn; second, Miss Margaret Dunn; traveling prize, Mrs. Robertson; gentlemen, first, Mr. J. Idiens; second, Mr. D. Idiens; traveling prize, Mr. Bert Carey.

After supper, provided by the ladies, at which some eighty sat down, Mr. Silence, in a witty speech, presented to Mr. and Mrs. Wing a traveling robe, which he hoped, in traveling to King Solomon's mines, would be a reminder of the kind thoughts of the community. Mr. Wing replied thanking the community, and eulogizing Vancouver Island.

Mr. E. J. Edwards, chairman of the School Board, next presented Mr. Williams with a purse of gold in token of the high esteem in which he was held, and wishing him long well-earned enjoyment of his pension. Mr. Williams, in thanking the donors, said that, although making their home in future, they would always cherish the happy days spent at Royston. Mr. Williams explained his ideal of the schoolmaster's work, was not so much academic distinction as to make the children into good citizens. The school children then presented Mrs. Williams with a bouquet, and Mr. Williams was asked to present bouquets to Mrs. Wing and Mrs. Christie, the latter being the indefatigable secretary of the School Board.

W.A. HOLDS SILVER TEA AT ALERT BAY

ALERT BAY, May 17 (By Mail).—Under the auspices of the Alert Bay branch of the W.A., a silver tea was given on Friday afternoon. In the garden of Mrs. P. W. Kenmuir.

The garden is at its prettiest at this time of the year, being a blaze of spring flowers; but, unfortunately, after a week of brilliant sunshine, the sun refused to show itself, however, this did not prevent a large crowd from assembling, and the afternoon was a great success, socially and financially.

The Dorcas secretary, Mrs. Kenmuir, was convener; a sum of money for Dorcas work had to be raised, and this was done during the afternoon. A homecoming stall (Mrs. Millen and Mrs. H. Pidcock in charge), proved popular, and was soon sold out, which also helped to swell the finances. The sum of $38.50 was realized.

SOUTH PENDER, May 21.—An object of interest to the Island is the caterpillar tractor, owned and operated by Mr. Westbrook, of Ladysmith. It is now bringing out logs at the rate of 25,000 feet a day for Messrs. H. Spalding and C. Conery.

BRAHMINS ARE BLAMED FOR NEW CRISIS

Mr. F. W. Galloway Sees No Hope for India Without Maintenance of British Raj

EVIL INFLUENCE OF RUSSIA TOLD

COURTENAY, May 20.—Speaking out of an experience of twenty-one years' residence in India, Mr. F. W. Galloway gave an informative address on "India at the Cross Roads," following a meeting of the Canadian Club in Cumberland on Monday night. In outlining the history of how India had been acquired, he stressed the fact that dominion status had been forced upon the people, the East India Company only taking over sovereignty under compulsion, as a trading company.

The company was much more interested in dividends than in acquiring glory. This policy had been closely followed by the succeeding Government, which had maintained the native princes and had interfered as little as possible with the religions and customs of the people. The speaker believed one of the chief causes of the present unrest in India was the work of the Brahmins. The Brahmins had a spiritual and political overlordship of India and the entry of the British Raj interfered with this to a great extent. The Brahmins did not care who ruled India as long as they could still hold this spiritual dominion.

BRAHMINS' PERSECUTION

Mr. Galloway gave particulars of the extraordinary extent to which the Brahmins practice persecution of the "untouchables." The advent of the British Raj, however, championing the low caste Indian against the Brahmins, and giving them justice and peace, was bitterly resented by the Brahmins. The Brahmin, who was a natural born student, absorbed Western culture readily but found he could not undermine the British Raj in India in spite of his efforts, so decided to work on the Home Government, with whom the speaker said, he was more successful. The National Congress, said Mr. Galloway, was a body of extremists which could never be satisfied, and while the civil service had been Indianized there were never enough jobs to go around among the young students, many of which became envious.

RUSSIAN TROUBLE

Russia was another cause of the unrest. For a hundred years Russia had looked with envy on India. Up to 1907 the Mahomedans had been loyal and entirely for British rule. At that time, however, the British Government had shown weakness in giving way to sect agitation. Since then many believed that their ends would be better gained by attacking the British Raj than by supporting it. Ninety-three per cent of the people of India were absolutely illiterate, and the remaining 7 per cent was the cause of all the trouble, said the speaker. This 93 per cent majority continually lived on the edge of destitution and only desired peace and justice against their many oppressors, and these they had largely obtained from the British. This, said the speaker, is the white man's burden. He could see no solution to the trouble in India for the next generation but by the maintenance of British rule. Withdrawal of the British would mean either that the native states would absorb the rest of India, or else there would be complete anarchy. At the close of the address Mr. Galloway was accorded a hearty vote of thanks.

WITNESSES FAIL TO ATTEND SESSIONS OF WAGE BOARD

NANAIMO, May 21.—The Male Minimum Wage Board, consisting of Messrs. J. D. McEwen, Adam Bell and G. H. Cowan, which was appointed to conduct an inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the employment of licentiate of pharmacy, certified drug clerks and certified drug apprentices, of sanitors, cleaners, watchmen, elevator operators and other occupations of a similar kind, met twice in the court house here yesterday. Two meetings were held, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening. No one turned up at either meeting, so there was no inquiry.

GUIDE COMMITTEE HOLDS MEETING

CHEMAMINUS, May 21.—The Chemainus Girl Guide committee held its monthly meeting on Monday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Alec Work. After the reading and adoption of the minutes of the previous meeting, Mrs. E. W. delivered a message from the Porter Chapter, I.O.D.E., offering their help if required at any time. The secretary, Miss Cring, was requested to write to the chapter, thanking them, and asking that they give the Guides their assistance by sponsoring them in the entertainment which they propose to get up in the near future. It was decided to procure further Brownie hats from Victoria, the Chemainus Brownies are to wear Boy Scout canvas hats, these being considered more serviceable for Summer and Winter seasons. The Summer camp, discussed and plans were made to have a cabaret on June 20 to augment the company's funds. Mrs. R. B.

ENTERTAINMENT HELD AT GANGES

Programme Pleases Large Audience, Variety of Features Being Presented

SALT SPRING ISLAND, May 21.—The most successful variety entertainment seen of late years on the Island, took place last Friday evening at the Mahon Hall. It was organized by the Ganges Chapter, I.O.D.E., for the benefit of the Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Wolf Cubs and Brownies, and drew a large audience, which packed the hall, and gave an enthusiastic reception to each item in turn; constant encores being insisted on. It was close on 11 p.m. when the Tableau of "Britannia," impersonated by Mrs. Scoones, who surrounded by over forty Scouts, Guides, Cubs and Brownies, sang "Land of Hope and Glory," which led up to the National Anthem and final falling of the curtain.

During the interval an interesting address was delivered by Col. Hepenstall, of Duncan, on the Scout Movement, the Colonel who was introduced by Mr. W. E. Scott, president of the First Salt Spring Island Company Boy Scouts, also addressed the Guides, Cubs and Brownies.

ARE WELL RECEIVED

Mr. and Mrs. A. Scoones were accorded a hearty greeting when they appeared on the stage, in "My Heart, Thy Sweet Voice," from Samson and Delilah, Mrs. Scoones was at her best, her magnificent voice showing to great advantage in this difficult song; the favorite, "Summer Night," proved an excellent encore. Mr. Scoones, in his ever-popular "Four Jolly Sailor Boys," and in the duet with his wife, "Come to the Fair" and "Night of Love" from Tales of Hoffman, well merited the reception given.

Mrs. Dolly Rochester's clear soprano voice, perfect diction and artistic rendering of her songs, made her a delight to all who heard her. In the duet, "In the Dark," her yodling song, with male chorus, was splendidly received. Mrs. Layard charmed all with her delightfully rendered violin and piano, and Midge Wanda de Turczynowicz and her wonderful Eastern dance and costume, was a vision of grace, this dance was followed by "Destiny," Capt. K. G. Hailey, an old resident of Salt Spring, received quite an ovation with his Harry Lauder impersonation, "Fu the Noo" and "When Maw Put Her New Bathing Costume on." The choruses, "Happy Days Are Here Again" and "Hio Rima," proved most popular, in the latter, "If You're in Love, You'll Waltz," the "Rangers' Song" and "Rio Rita" were included. The setting and Spanish costumes made the scene pretty and picturesque, the Spanish dance by Miss Lois Wilson and Mr. C. F. Roberts was greatly applauded. As a later turn the girls of the chorus were seen to advantage in a "Minuet," which was most gracefully danced by them in suitable costumes. Those in the chorus were Mrs. A. B. Elliot, Mrs. J. Mitchell, Mrs. C. F. Roberts, Misses Mabel Harris, Clair Wilson, Dorcas Crofton, Lois and Shirlee Wilson, Betty Halley, Nancy Elliot, Capt. V. C. Best, Messrs. V. C. Morris, C. F. Roberts, K. Butterfield and L. Nichol.

The amusing and exceedingly clever sketch of a London street scene by Gertrude Jennings, entitled "Waiting for the Bus," was splendidly acted by the following cast: Mrs. N. W. Wilson, Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. V. C. Best, Mrs. J. Mitchell, Mrs. A. B. Elliot, Misses Clair Wilson and Lois Wilson, Capt. V. C. Best, Messrs. L. Cropper and K. Butterfield, and the two children, Maureen Seymour and Bryan Inglis, this kept the house convulsed with laughter from start to finish.

Another clever, five minutes' sketch, a skit on the present day ladies' fashions, played by Miss Wendy Benson and Donald Corbett, was also capital done, and received great applause. Mrs. Scoones and Mrs. Hague kindly acted as accompanists. During the evening several of the ladies were the recipients of most beautiful bouquets. The performance was followed by a dance, at which Hagie's orchestra supplied the music.

Geese is a low, heavy-set bird which is most meat and feathers. His head sets on one end and he sits on the other. Geese can't sing much on account of the dampness of the moisture. He ain't got no between-his-toes and some geese when they get big has curls on their tails and is called ganders. Ganders don't half-to-sit and hatch but eat and loaf and go swimming. If I were a goose I'd rather be a gander. an "open mind" often mistakes a vacancy for an opening.

Joyous and Vigorous like children's laughter

it is part of the happy household

BOBBIE thinks Susan can play on his team and Susan, the tomboy, would rather fight battles with lead soldiers than rock to sleep the prettiest doll in the nursery. And mother is sure that tomboy or ball player, her children's laughter is part of her happy, vigorous household.

So, tired or gay, frolicking over the nursery, sitting politely at table, Bobbie and Susan and countless other children in countless other households break into smiles and shout with joy when "Canada Dry" is placed before them.

It is a joyous beverage. It is a sparkling drink. It matches the high spirits of children and is good for them. Its purity recommends it to parents. Why? Because of its basic excellence. The very foundation of "Canada Dry" is "Liquid Ginger"—which we make from selected Jamaica ginger root by a special process. This process is controlled by us and, unlike any other method, retains for "Canada Dry" all of the original aroma, flavour and natural essence of the ginger root. Rigid laboratory control assures uniformity, purity and highest quality.

And into your household this fine old ginger ale will bring its cheer and vigor. Into your household . . . to your Bobbie and Susan . . . this fine old ginger ale will bring laughter and joy. Is there a convenient carton of 6 or 12 bottles in your pantry, for your children?

IMPORTING AYRESHIRE

ARMSTRONG—The third consignment of Ayreshire cattle for British Columbia within the year left Glasgow on the steamer Kas-talia on April 25, and the animals are now in quarantine in Quebec.

STRAWBERRY CROP REDUCED

CRESTON—Only about a 75 per cent crop of strawberries is expected in the Creston Valley this year. Orders placed for box shooks substantiate this estimate, being lower by 20 per cent from the Wynndel district, the big strawberry area here. The berry area is placed at about 150 acres, 20 per cent of which is in new planting.

CANNERY FOR KAMLOOPS

KAMLOOPS—Another cannery is to be operated here this season. The name of the new concern is Columbia Cannery Ltd., and Mr. W. A. Blott is the manager. Mr. H.

Foreman is factory superintendent, and the old brewery premises here will be utilized by the company. About 350 acres of tomatoes have been contracted for, and an order placed here for 10,000 field boxes. A pack of 100,000 cases is proposed by the principals.

MAKING MANY BOXES

PENTICTON—The Pentiction Sawmills are looking forward to a busy season in 1930, and if work continues as at present, this promise will be fulfilled. Two years ago the factory was practically all under water, but weather conditions this year have not hindered work there. The box factory is especially busy now, turning out boxes for packing houses from Naramata to the boundary line. Forty-five men are employed at the sawmills and the crew is turning out 4,000 boxes a day.

NICOLA PIONEER DIES

MERRITT—Mr. James Smith, who lived in the Nicola Valley in the days before the railway was in and before automobiles were in use, and who as a blacksmith at Coulter shod horses in pack horse trains, died recently at the age of seventy-seven years. The late Mr. Smith, as one of the earliest of pioneers, having resided in the valley for forty-three years, was among the two or three best-known residents of the Nicola country. He was born in Scotland.

OLIVER ORCHARD LANDS

OLIVER—Figures just made available show a total of 3,200 acres will be under irrigation in this district this year. The land is all planted to orchard, vegetable and alfalfa crops. Including the bottom land, which is not irrigated from the Government system, a total of over 3,600 acres will be under cultivation. This is by far the largest acreage ever under cultivation and is almost the maximum that may be irrigated. A plentiful supply of water is assured.

Mr. A. W. Neill's Suggestion Is Given Support

OTTAWA, May 21.—The question of what is a Summer resident and where he should be allowed to vote is under consideration by the committee of the House of Commons on the Dominion Elections Act. The act as passed last session prevents persons who have Summer homes apart from their ordinary residences from voting in the constituency where the Summer home is situated. Mr. A. W. Neill (Independent, Cemex-Alberni), contended the act as it stood worked a hardship on many laborers in British Columbia who were ordinarily residents in Vancouver but spent the Summer working in the northern parts of the province, fishing and lumbering. He wanted the term Summer resident defined in such a way as to exclude these workers from the operation of the clause affecting Summer residents.

The committee in general agreed with the suggestion and the chairman, Mr. C. G. Power (Liberal, Quebec South), was instructed to have an amendment along the lines suggested by Mr. Neill prepared.

Mr. William Freno Passes at Nelson

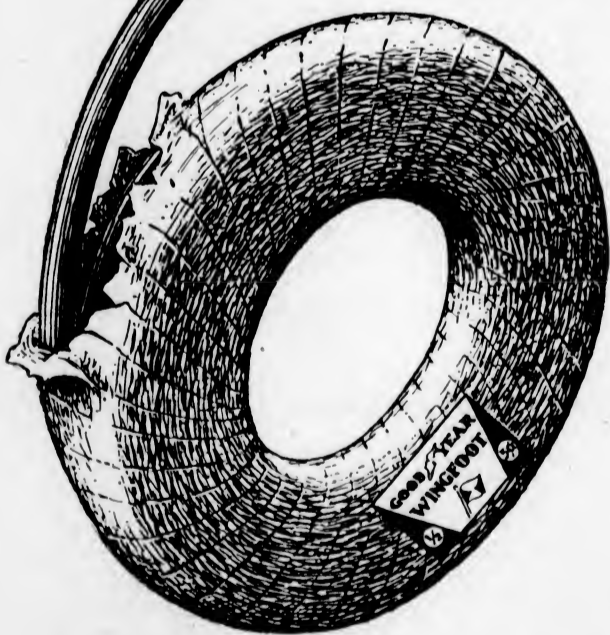

NELSON, May 21.—Mr. William Freno, seventy-three, oldest employee of P. Burns & Co. in the Dominion, died from heart failure here yesterday.

Long before Mr. Pat Burns, cattle king, formed P. Burns & Co., Mr. Freno traveled with Mr. Burns when supplying fresh meat for the C.P.R. construction camps on the prairies, including the period of the Riel Rebellion of 1885.

He brought to Nelson the first herd of cattle from the West, driving them from Vernon.
